Community Is Split Over Teachers' Strike

By FRANK LaPIERRE

Confusion is rising in Daly City over the firing of 227 Jefferson Elementary District school teachers by the Board of Trustees.

On one side Supt. Frank Greenwood insists that the strike involving almost half of the district's employes is over because they have been fired and are no longer employes.

The teachers and their supporters counter with statements that the Board and superintendent have refused to meet with them to settle the dispute.

Monday night some 700 parents of children attending the district vowed to keep their children out of schools until the Board resumes negotiations with the teachers — which the Board has insisted it will not do.

The parents reached their decision during a meeting held in the Jefferson High School Gymnasium.

The Rev. Raymond Howard, head of the group called the Concerned Citizens Committee, has said he will urge parents to keep their children out of school if the dispute is not settled by Thursday.

It was noted by the Rev. Howard that both sides have not budged from their individual stands in recent days.

Supt. Greenwood in answer to a query whether substitute teachers were being paid "strike busting" salaries, answered "absolutely not."

The lowest paid teacher in the district is paid $40.53 a day, Greenwood said.

The average of those employed in teacher positions is $60, with a top scale of $83.

A regular substitute is paid only $28 a day, the scperintendent explained.

"These teachers are not 'substitutes' they are considered to be emergency employes," Greenwood said. "Taxpayers are not losing a dime."

And all 227 of those district employes fired — members of the American Federation of Teachers, the California Teachers Association and the National Education Association — are not classroom teachers, he said.

Greenwood said the district employs 365 classroom teachers.

"There are 221 classroom teachers in classrooms right now," he said.

This means that 144 classroom teachers are part of the 227 striking employees, leaving 83 persons that filled special assignment and support role positions in the district.

These "special assignments" included remedial reading and similar classes — necessary in today's educational field.

But the district has not bothered to fill these support and special assignment posts for the time being.

The posts are vacant and the special classes temporarily shelved, it was learned.

Those teachers still on the job (Please See Page 2, Column 2)

Students Walk Out

About 60 seventh and eighth grade students left their Colma Intermediate School classrooms Tuesday in sympathy with striking teachers, but Principal Joe Franz persuaded them to return soon afterwards.

Franz agreed to discuss the matter with students inside the school's gymnasium, according to Frank Greenwood, the Jefferson Elementary School District superintendent.

Monday's attendance records indicated that of a possible enrollment of 9290 students attending classes numbered 8578, he said.

Greenwood said that a "normal" absentee figure of 400 students is experienced.

New Offer to Mediate County Cemetery Strike

Chairman James V. Fitzgerald of the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors has offered his services to end the cemetery strike which he said has reached the crisis stage.

Fitzgerald said several constituents have called on him demanding that he do something about the 116-day-old strike of Peninsula cemetery workers.

One of the callers, the chairman said, was the widow of a person who has been dead for more than two months but who remains unburied.

Fitzgerald said one mortician told him that two bodies stored at his funeral home are beginning to decompose.

The chairman asked Dr. George Pickett, county health and welfare director, for a report on any health hazards that might be posed if the situation continues. He quoted the director as saying that the morticians have been doing a good job under difficult conditions and that, to his knowledge, there is no health hazard at this time.

An aide was attempting to contact Maurice Fitzgerald, head of Cemtery workers Local 265, and John Cantwell, negotiator for the Associated Cemteries of San Francisco, and arrange a meeting with the board chairman.

"About all I can do at this stage," Supervisor Fitzgerald said, "is to offer my services as mediator. I have no professional ability to do this, but if it could help in any way, I would be glad to do it."

The two Fitzgeralds are not related.

Supervisor Fitzgerald said several funeral home directors told him they have no more room for storage of corpses. Coroner Paul B. Jensen noted that some morticians have started storing bodies in their garages, letting their automobiles stay out.

Attempts to end the 119 day old cemetery strike have thus far failed.

Last week the Association held a hush hush meeting on the strike in Santa Clara County. The meeting did not produce any positive course of action.

According to reports concerning the joint meeting of the Bay Area's leading mortuaries, San Francisco voted not to force a showdown in the strike by seeking a court injunction.

But several San Mateo County mortuaries will ask Public Health Offices, here and at the State level, to intervene by declaring the prolonged storage of human remains a health hazard.

Two Slaying Suspects Held In Daly City

Two men accused of the cold-blooded killing of a Loomis guard in Berkeley last week were arrested quietly in Daly City early on Tuesday.

Police sergeants Ralph Warren and Dennis Sheehy, accompanied by San Francisco police, moved in on the Geneva Motel, 3233 Geneva Avenue, at 3:15 a.m.

Arrested without a struggle inside room 3 of the motel were Larry N. Houston, 26, of Oakland, and his brother, Danny Joe Houston, 25, of Des Moines, Iowa.

An undisclosed amount of coins was found stashed in a pillow case. Police did not find any weapons, Warren said.

Both men were charged with the slaying of Loomis guard Patrick Moore, 23, at the U-Save Market in Berkeley last Friday.

Police had learned that the fugitives might be staying in one of the motels along Geneva Avenue. They carried pictures of the pair from Los Angeles

Gust Raps City Manager Form of Coast Government

By BOB PETERSON

Pacifica Councilman Nick Gust Monday blamed the city manager form of government for that city's loss of its director of public works.

David Thompson is leaving Friday. He will become director of public works at Manhattan Beach in Southern California.

Thompson said he is leaving mainly because he wants more money. His annual salary in Pacifica has been $21,600. That's as high as he can go. In Manhattan Beach he will begin at $22,000, and I can go up from there.

Mayor Grace McCarthy Monday presented Thompson a resolution of commendation for his service to the city.

Gust implied that if the council had the powers of hiring and firing, instead of having it rest with the city manager, Thompson would still be with the city because he could bargain for a higher salary.

"I'm suggesting that we should redo our city ordinance," said Gust. "I'm proposing a review board that would allow the council to review the top three applicants for department head positions." He said it would be written into the personnel rules.

Councilman Harlan Minshew said that the changing of the city's ordinance which now leaves the hiring and firing of department heads with the city manager would mean a change in the type of government for Pacifica.

Minshew suggested the city shou'd have an elected mayor, with a city administrator responsible to the mayor. This would mean a change from General Law to a Charter City operation.

Gust also was critical of the fact the city now has a $5 million sanitary treatment plant and outfall line ready to begin, and the man who worked with it is leaving.

"Something has to be wrong," said Gust. "The city manager form of government is at fault. Had the problems (of money) been brought to the council level, we wouldn't be losing Thompson today. He is the best man this city has had in the six years I've been on the council."

Gust then attacked hiring and firing procedures and the fact it was easier to hire than to fire.

S.S.F. Police Nab Convict

A San Quentin Prison inmate, a bullet wound in his back, surrendered meekly to officers in South San Francisco, 12 days after a search began for him.

The inmate, Raymond Labrum, 20, told police he was wounded during a fight in East Palo Alto. Labrum failed to return to prison after a 72-hour work furlough.

Still being sought is inmate Michael J. Kellor, 27. He failed to return when his furlough was up Sunday.

Heart Attack Fells JUHSD's Glenn South

Glenn South, former Stanford football star who played with the team in the 1941 Rose Bowl, was in serious condition today at Peninsula Hospital after suffering a heart attack September 21.

South is assistant superintendent for business at the Jefferson Union High School District in Daly City.

He joined the faculty of the school shortly after graduation in 1942, as a teacher with the Jefferson High School.

Following a two-year tour of duty with the Army Air Corp as a lieutenant during World War II, South returned to the district and assumed the post of dean of boys at Jefferson. In 1967 he became the district's business manager.

South felt ill Tuesday afternoon while at work and decided to visit his doctor for a checkup. He was rushed to Peninsula Hospital after it was determined he was suffering the effects of a heart attack.

He and his wife, Pearl, live in Millbrae.

The couple has two sons, Richard, 26, who lives in the East and is now at his father's side, and Robert, 24, currently coaching in New Zealand.

'Propaganda War'

Recall Move Launched

Official notice of intention to recall three trustees of the Jefferson Elementary School District has been filed with County Clerk Marvin Church.

The action sets in motion the required legal procedure leading to a recall election.

A copy of the petition form stating grounds for recall was filed by Carolyn Huertas, 421 Santa Barbara Avenue, Daly City, on behalf of Concerned Parents for Better Schools.

Church said the committee is allowed six months to circulate the petition. In order to force an election, the signatures of 20 per cent of the number of registered voters in the school district at the time the petition is filed will be required. At the present time, Church said, there are approximately 23,000 registered voters.

The recall is directly against William J. Schumacher, Albert Collet and Mrs. Dorothy L. Adams. The other two trustees are immune because they have been in office less than six months. State law gives elected officials that much time in office before they become subject to recall.

The petition states these grounds:

"On opening day of school this year Jefferson Elementary School District was in a state of complete disruption. The Board of Trustees had terminated meetings with the Teachers Association; teacher and employe morale throughout the district was destroyed; over 200 certified teachers declined to teach in protest against the Board of Trustees' irrational policies; and our children became the victims of emergency, patchquilt operations.

"The Board of Trustees bears full responsibility for this breakdown. This is their record:

"1. They abdicated their legal responsibility to negotiate with classroom teachers, and hired, with school money, incompetent, outside negotiators.

"2. They refused to authorize adoption of any agreement with teachers on subjects required by law to be negotiated.

"3. They fired 227 teachers, and hired substitutes at wages which appear to violate the presidential freeze order, without regard to competency or the welfare of our children.

"Parents, teachers and the entire community have lost confidence in this Board of Trustees. It is essential to replace them with citizens from our community who, with the support of your votes, can rebuild our elementary schools."

It has reached the stage where knowing what's going on means the true situation is not really understood, one expert said.

Meanwhile, the propaganda war goes on in the teachers' strike.

No matter whom one talks to, the story is different. It is at least slanted to that person's point. Some won't talk. Others talk but don't want to be quoted.

"A strike is a propaganda war," said Jefferson Elementary School District Superintendent Frank Greenwood. "And regardless of all the propaganda, we know where the children are, and we're satisfied with the way things are moving."

Greenwood said the only way

D.C. Ex-Councilman Bodien Dies

Arthur J. Bodien, longtime Daly City civic leader and former councilman, is dead. He was 88.

Bodien, a native of San Francisco, was a pioneer in the settlement of Daly City. He was a charter member of the Daly City Fire Department since 1907 and served three elected terms on the city council.

For some years he was the city's public works superintendent and was instrumental in setting up the present civil service status for municipal employes.

A past member of the San Mateo Planning Commission and the County's Parks and Recreation Commission, Bolien was also past president of the Daly City Boy Scout Council and a member of the Brass Workers Union of San Francisco.

For almost three quarters of a century, Bodien had been involved in numerous civic and fraternal organizations.

He was also a member of the Daly City Chamber of Commerce, past president of the Colma-Vista Grande Aeriel 848 F.O.E., a life member of the Machinists Lodge 1305 and the Daly City Rod and Gun Club.

Bodien was a former assistant chief and past president of the D.C. Employees' Association.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Eleanor Gomes, two grandsons and a great-grandson.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at 1:30 from the W. C. Lasswell & Co. Chapel at 6154 Mission Street, Daly City. Memorials to the Heart Association are preferred.

Form of Government

He suggested that the city in the past has carried incompetent personnel which has cost the taxpayers money.

"Yet, here we sit and we can't get rid of them," he said. "We have the power to hire the city manager and the city attorney, all others are hired by the city manager."

"We never get a direct answer from a department head," said Gust. "I don't like a department head looking to the city manager to see whether he has made the correct response," said Gust.

Minshew said the solution to that is to have three votes and indicate to the city manager that if the situation isn't rectified the person in question, and the city manager, will have to go.

He said it was only normal that the staff should feel some allegiance to the city manager.

Councilman Stan Farber asked what kind of "straight answers" the council would get from staff members who had three (councilmen) bosses instead of being responsible just to the city manager.

"When a city manager doesn't have a 'firing' quality we should be looking for a new city manager," said Farber. He said he did feel the council should have some part in the process of department head selection, however.

Mayor Grace McCarthy said what Gust suggested "leads straight to favoritism, political maneuvering and confused loyalities."

She said she was concerned the discussion would leave the public with the wrong impression of the way the council acts. "I have always met department heads before they were hired," she said. "There often are not three top contenders. And our relationship with the staff on the whole is excellent."

Mrs. McCarthy also said it will be a long time before Pacifica can afford a full-time mayor.

parents can end the strike is to put their children in school. Attendance figures, as subtracted from opening day enrollment indicates only about 400 of 9200 students are out of school.

"At the end of the 30 days (dated from the day the teachers were officially fired) we will start replacing," said Greenwood. "I have already told the principals to assume these substitutes may be with them all year."

A teacher's recorded phone message said there is "some room for hope" in settling the strike. It said the teachers are "looking forward to an honorable strike settlement."

At another Jefferson Classroom Teachers Association headquarters the report was that conditions have not changed since yesterday. A third phone gave out a continual busy signal.

Deputy District Attorney Keith Breon, California Teachers Association Attorney Peter Galiano and teachers attorney Duane Beeson met yesterday with a citizens group in an unsuccessful attempt to settle the strike.

Breon said that last year's case involving the teachers and school district is now closed. He said he would be submitting a brief on the district's position on Monday.

"Too much emphasis should not be placed on this case, however," warned Breon. He said he cautioned the board not to commit themselves on the outcome of this case.

Galiano said, the attorneys are in agreement that in order to effect a proper settlement it would be advisable to keep communication at the client-attorney level.

"I'm not trying to hide anything," he said.

Two others—a second Loomis guard and a store employee—were wounded in the holdup which netted the gunmen some $410 in coins.

Berkeley police issued an arrest warrant after picking up an alleged female accomplice in the robbery-killing in Oakland yesterday. Her information apparently led police to the two men.

Lillion Jones, 24-year-old girl friend of one of the suspects, was arrested at an Oakland apartment house which had been under police surveillance since the robbery suspect's car was found abandoned nearby.

According to Berkeley police the two bandits walked into the market at about 10:15 a.m. Friday. They ordered the guards there to pick up the store's receipts and to move towards the safe. One gunman jammed a gun into the back of one of the guards. Two shots rang out, and Moore was found lying dead near the safe, killed with a single shot.

have been called "substandard" and unable to properly teach the children.

Several teachers contacted were visibly angered by these charges hurled by some striking teachers.

Five of the AFT's 65 members employed in the district are still on the job. (It has been learned the AFT is considering punishing them.)

"We are all members of the same Association. Because they are picketing and we are teaching does not make them better teachers," one teacher responded.

Board Says Jeff Teachers 'Resigned'

By WILL THOMAS

The 227 striking teachers in Daly City's Jefferson Elementary School District are now considered resigned as well as suspended and subject to dismissal.

Trustees of the district took the additional action Thursday in an effort to expediate proceedings, according to deputy district attorney Keith Breon.

The board used a September 1970 resolution for its action:

"Absence without leave for five days or more, without a satisfactory explanation, shall be deemed a resignation and the separation shall be entered on the official records; provided that if at any time within 30 days after the date of said resignation, the employe so absenting himself shall make a satisfactory explanation to the board, he may be reinstated to his position."

Breon told trustees he and the CTA attorney Peter Galiano could not agree either on what fact-issue stipulations should be presented the court or to what case.

Galiano refused to permit to have the stipulations added to the JESD versus Joan Bent case, which the trustees want, Breon said. He said he did not expect that Galiano ever would agree.

Board Chairman William Schumacher, also an attorney, has explained the board's position in this manner:

"In the suit . . . the school district is the plaintiff; for that reason we can see to it that the questions are clearly and completely answered. This is the only lawsuit now in the court to which we can attach the facts of last year's bilateral fixed-term contract, binding arbitration and strike by public school employes."

The Joan Bent case involves a claim for maternity benefits, binding arbitration and a memorandum of agreement.

The district wants the court to rule on the legality of public employe strikes and on bilateral, termed contracts with binding arbitration.

Breen said teachers who may seek re-instatement must prove reasonable absence to trustees.

Although the resolution perhaps will advise against it, he said, until the court can rule on pending injunctive action.

A hearing on whether to make permanent a court order prohibiting the JESD teachers from striking will be held at 9 a.m. Friday.

Last week, the Rev. Ray Howard, spokesman for a parents' group, said that the Concerned Citizens Committee might urge parents to keep their children home to protest what he called bad faith actions by both sides in the dispute over a bilateral termed agreement with binding arbitration.

Howard said he was confident that he could convince Galiano to make the stipulations in order to get the strike settled.

Last Sunday, there was agreement that the board would consider taking back the teachers, who would return without contract pending a court dcision, if the attorneys could agree on the stipulated facts and issues.

Jail Term

George R. Radoff III, found guilty of involuntary manslaughter in the death of a man found fatally injured outside a Brisbane bar last March 19, was placed on three years probation and ordered to spend 90 days in county jail Sept. 21 by Superior Judge W. Howard Hartley.

Radoff, of Brisbane, was found guilty of the manslaughter charge last July 26 by Judge Hartley. The defendant was accused of causing the death of Edward Straseburger, 31, also of Brisbane, who was found unconscious with a head injury outside the 23 Club and later died at Mary's Help Hospital. Radoff later surrendered to police.

National Ties Charged in D.C.

Jefferson Elementary School District Superintendent Frank Greenwood on Friday charged the current teachers' strike in Daly City is a national rather than a local dispute.

He said both the National Education Association (NEA) and California Teachers Association (CTA) are "behind this strike."

"The real fight is not simply a local matter between our (JESD) board and the teachers," Greenwood explained. "It is a fight between the board and the national teachers' unions."

Greenwood identified the "national teachers' unions" as the NEA and CTA.

Speaking to a group of Mission Street merchants in Daly City Thursday, Greenwood said his district had been hit by strikes for the past three years.

This year the board, rather than "knuckle under," decided to meet the issue headon, he said.

"The board did what I feel is a courageous act . . . (in firing the 227 striking teachers). We are suing the NEA and CTA for all damages," Greenwood said.

"The CTA is presently bragging no teacher has ever been fired for striking in the United States," Greenwood said.

The superintendent vowed "our board will not back away from this issue."

What happens in Daly City will have far-reaching effects perhaps nationwide in future dealings with teachers, Greenwood explained.

Since the strike began two weeks ago, Greenwood's office has received calls from throughout the country concerning the strike.

Some have come from other school superintendents, "who told me their teachers are waiting in the wings to see what happens here."

Enrollment in the district, as of yesterday, was off only 4 per cent, he said.

"This strike is costing those teachers walking the pavement about $25,000 per day," the superintendent said.

There is no doubt the teachers are attempting to take over control of the district, Greenwood said.

If that happens, Greenwood warned, the public would have little say in how the schools are run.

"It's hard for citizens to pressure teachers. But they can pressure their elected board members," he said.

He asked for parents' support in the issue and encouraged them to keep their children in school, not boycott the district as was suggested by the Rev. Ray Howard, a parents' group spokesman.

"We have good teachers replacing those that were fired. Our substitutes are angry because they are being called 'substandard teachers' by those on strike. This is a lie," Greenwood said.

Some community groups have indicated they have the endorsement of the P-TA. This is also not true, according to Greenwood.

In a news release issued last week, the Jefferson Council of P-TAs supported Greenwood's statement.

"The P-TA is in no way connected with any of the newly formed community groups. No petitions, recall or otherwise, that are being circulated are sponsored by the P-TA," Mrs. Jerry Galindo, president of the council, said.

The P-TA's main concern is with the health, safety and welfare of the children attending schools.

"With this in mind, we must encourage parents to seriously consider the effects of any boycott action on the children," Mrs. Galindo said.

The council warned that children must not be used as pawns "in any disagreement" between groups.

Mrs. Galindo, speaking for the council, urged parents to check on school conditions for themselves, rather than rely on the rumors.

County Public Health office has been around to investigate these remains stored in local mortuaries, it was learned.

Mortuaries are not equipped to store bodies for long periods of time, a North County mortician explained.

The smell of paulex powder is intermingled with the odor of the dead in the mortuaries.

Daily paulex powder, a special powder used to absorb moisture and stifle offensive odors, is dusted on the bodies to slow down decomposition.

Some bodies break down faster than others.

Injuries suffered at the time of the death or disease, may cause one body to break down faster than another.

The bodies have been placed inside special plastic bags before being put into their coffins.

And while embalming kills most communicable diseases, the morticians are basing their "health hazard" charges on the odor coming from the remains.

The worst part of the strike, one funeral director said, is the fact "neither side is even talking."

Meanwhile, the bodies stack up in buildings not equipped for prolonged storage.

D.C. Teachers March on Civic Center

Two hundred and fifty teachers, parents, and children marched on the Daly City civic center on Monday to call attention to the Jefferson Elementary District teacher strike, on "neutral ground."

"We are not here to disrupt anything," said James Cannon, spokesman, "just to call public notice to what's going on."

Cannon said the marchers would proceed from city hall to the Jefferson Elementary District offices, a mile and a half away, because the trustees would not come to them.

He said Supt. Frank Greenwood's weekend statement that the 227 striking teachers are no longer employes of the district, was "ridiculous."

The teachers, parents, and students, had hoped to meet with one or more of the Jefferson District trustees, Cannon said, on the "neutral ground of the civic center, but the board members continued to avoid their responsibility."

Later Monday, members of the American Federation of Teachers, who have joined California Teachers' Association members in the strike, gathered at Serramonte High School and marched to the Serramonte shopping center to seek public support of the strike.

The marchers were led by Robert O. Delzell, secretary of the San Mateo County Labor Council and leader of AFT teachers in Daly City.

Over the weekend, the California Teachers' Association, which has often opposed the AFT and usually considers itself a professional organization rather than a labor union, took two actions in support of the strikers.

The CTA's State Council of Education, policy making body for the association, voted to ask its 100,000 members to engage in a "token" strike during October and to donate one day's pay to the strikers.

They also agreed to pay the health insurance premiums for each of the striking teachers at a cost estimated at $16,000, and to provide full legal and court cost protection for the strikers.

"We don't believe the Jefferson District has the right to fire teachers for engaging in a strike," said a CTA spokesman.

Dist. Supt. Frank Greenwood, at the same time, sent out to local newspapers a suggested "editorial policy" statement, asking that publishers consider accepting his version of the truth as their own.

Included with the statement were two copies of letters sent by Greenwood and District Trustee Mrs. Dorothy Adams to the Rev. Raymond Howard, leader of the "Concerned Parents" group which has been boycotting schools in support of the teachers.

In both letters and statement, Greenwood calls the teacher action an illegal strike.

Board Chairman William Schumacher reportedly said that no further talks will be held between the board of trustees and the striking teachers.

U.S. Chemistry Award To Millbrae Professor

Dr. Dan Q. Posin of Millbrae professor of physical science and chairman of the department of interdisciplinary sciences at San Francisco State College, has been selected by the American Chemical Society as 1972 recipient of the James T. Grady Award for interpreting chemistry for the public.

This award was created to recognize, encourage and stimulate outstanding reporting directly to the public, which materially increases the public's knowledge and understanding of chemistry, chemical engineering, and related fields. It consists of $3,000, tax-free, a certificate, a gold medal, and a bronze replica of the medal. An allowance is provided for traveling expenses to the meeting at which the award will be presented.

The award will be presented at the general meeting of the American Chemical Society's spring meeting in Boston, in April 1972. Dr. Posin is to appear in person to receive the award, and to deliver an address on the subject of his work.

Dr. Posin received his Ph.D. in physics, at the University of California, Berkeley, where he served as an instructor, after which he has been professor of physics and chairman of the department at the University of Panama, University of Montana, and North Dakota State College. He has also been a member of the staff at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and a professor of physics and physical science at De Paul University in Chicago, where he won six Emmy Awards for his science work on television.

The present awarl is based on Dr. Posin's cumulative work over the years, beginning in 1945 with his speeches on the atom, his film, "The Atom and You," his novelized biography of the great Russian chemist, Mendeleyev — "Mendeleyev, the Story of a Great Scientist," which won a national award, his 1500 television shows — "Out of This World," "What's New," "On the Shoulders of Giants," as well as weekly science reports on WTTW-TV in Chicago. His TV shows, in many instances, have been made for National Educational Television, and some are currently showing across the United States.

Author of 25 books of both a popular and a technical nature, Dr. Posin is married to the former Patsy Frances Schweitzer who is a graduate of Pomona College and former graduate student in English and drama at the University of California, and now serving as a substitute teacher in English in the San Mateo Unified High School District. The Posins have two children, Dan, Jr., graduate of Yale Law School and now a lawyer in Washington, D.C., and Kathryn.

May as Well Go Home —Greenwood

The strike of the school teachers in Daly City is over and pickets parading at various school sites may as well go home.

This is what Jefferson Elementary School Dist. Supt. Frank Greenwood said on Friday. Greenwood said the board of trustees and his office feel the teachers are no longer employed by the district — they have been fired — and, therefore, are not on strike. Whatever happens regarding the strike from now on will be up to the courts, Greenwood said.

Meanwhile, the Rev. Raymond Howard, pastor of the Paradise Baptist Church and a spokesman for a Daly City parents' group, threatened to carry out a student boycott of the district's schools if the issue isn't settled within five days.

He said the boycott would be a drastic measure but it appeared to be the only way to get the two sides to agree to some kind of a settlement in the 17-day-old dispute.

Greenwood said the strike is illegal and had occurred in violation of a San Mateo County Superior Court order.

Attempts to reach JESD Chairman William Schumaucher Saturday resulted in:

His being "asleep" at 8 a.m. and could not be disturbed until 8:30 a.m., according to a family member; and

His being "out of the house" at 8:45 a.m. and unavailable for comment.

When asked when Schumaucher would be available for comment on the Friday attempts by striking teachers to contact him, the phone was disconnected.

Likewise, attempts to contact Greenwood on Saturday failed.

Gun Charges Filed After Argument

A car salesman and a mechanic were arrested on concealed weapon charges on Thursday by San Bruno police after a disturbance at a local restaurant.

Booked were Gary E. Dell, 147 Sylvan Avenue, Apt. 2, San Bruno, a car salesman for a Daly City agency, and Donald Newton, 30, a San Francisco car mechanic, police said.

Dell is a 36-year-old former San Bruno police officer, according to a police spokesman.

An off-duty San Francisco policeman, James Lomax, saw the suspects talking outside at 3 a.m., police said. Dell, was holding a 38-caliber revolver, Lomax told investigating San Bruno police patrolman Paul Esposito. Lomax said the weapon traded hands, then he called local police.

Esposito said the weapon was found in the waistband of Dell's trousers.

Lomax was kicked by Newton in the stomach during the search, police said.

The pair reportedly had been involved in an earlier disturbance, inside the restaurant, had left and obtained the weapon, then returned.

Both were charged with possession of a concealed weapon. They were released on $625 bail each.

Bandit Gives $3 Back For Fare

A bearded man robbed a young serviceman of $58 at knifepoint in a San Francisco International Airport terminal Wednesday, then returned $3 so the victim could get to his base.

Noel Lemons, 23, an enlisted man stationed at Travis Air Force Base, told sheriff's deputies that the suspect approached him in the south terminal, drew a knife with a long blade and said, "Let's see your billfold." After removing the money, the robber asked Lemons where he was going. When the airman replied he was headed for Travis, the man handed him back $3, telling the victim, "This is all you need to get there."

Greek Classes At Westmoor

Courses in the increasingly popular Modern Greek Language for beginners, intermediate and advanced students are now being given at the Westmoor Adult School, 131 Westmoor Avenue, Daly City, California.

The classes are held each Wednesday evening, with the beginner's group running between 7:'0 to 8:15 p.m. and the intermediate and advanced students from 8:30 to 10:00 p.m.

These classes in Greek have been of special interest to those who expect to travel or study in Greece, to students of Ancient Greek, as well as to those who are interested in contemporary Greek culture and history in general. The registration fee is $1.00.

Suspect Held For Robbery

South San Francisco police have arrested the third and final suspect in connection with the August 11 robbery of Beneficial Finance Company, 386 Grand Avenue.

Booked Friday was Thomas Clifton Terry, 29, of San Francisco.

He was arrested in San Francisco, with the aid of San Francisco, Vallejo and Richmond authorities, and is in custody of South San Francisco police.

Bruno Peak Walk Set Oct. 3

The planned walk on San Bruno Mountain on October 3 received brief acknowledgment Wednesday by Crocker Land Company's project director for the proposed mountain development.

Frank Calton, speaking to members of the South San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, said he has sent a letter offering to display relief maps of the firm's proposal on the walk date "so the walkers will know what is being planned."

The walk is scheduled for 11 a.m., according to Mrs. Bette Higgins of the "Save San Bruno Mountain" Committee.

She said the route will follow Hillside Boulevard to East Market on the Daly City side of the mountain. This is within a few blocks of the Guadalupe Canyon Parkway.

Walkers will then follow the parkway shoulder up a rise to a rally point at the vista area, about 2½ miles away.

The walk is intended to provide persons an opportunity to take a closer look at the hidden wild gardens, the groves of trees and the sheltered areas visible from Guadalupe Parkway.

It also will provide an opportunity for persons to demonstrate concern and desire to save the mountain, the last tract of undeveloped land in the North County. The area has long been promised as the site for a regional park.

Mrs. Higgins suggests walkers bring water bottles, lunch and a sweater and make the trip a family or group outing.

Calton, meanwhile, said, "It will be intereting to see what kind of a response there will be (to the letter)." He said the letter was sent to committee co-chairman Mrs. Sylvia Gregory of San Bruno.

"They (the committee) just announced they were going to have a walk on our property," said Calton. "We don't object to that," he added.

Calton, however, was concerned that he has been able to identify only six or eight persons "forthright enough to come out in the open and say they don't like our proposal."

He also was critical of the press for "making it sound like hundreds are opposed" to the mountain development.

"We would like to know of any other groups that hav taken an official stand in opposition. (The South San Francisco Chamber of Commerce is on record favoring the annexation.) We want to talk to those opposed and have an informed discussion," said Calton. "It is hard for ehose uninformed to understand that we don't create instant plans."

The project director also urged that those who would criticize the project study it thoroughly and make a determination on its merits and the past work of his firm, rather than taking a negative position based on what other developers have done.

"We are not going to have ticky-tacky hamburger stands," he said.

Crestmoor Overpass Motion to Judge

Superior Court Judge Melvin E. Cohn on Wednesday took under submission a motion to restrain the State Division of Highways from making test borings for a Crestmoor overpass as part of an extension of San Bruno Freeway west from Interstate Highway 280.

Before taking the motion under submission, Judge Cohn, the presiding judge of the county, expressed doubt that a local referendum election would have any legal effect to halt the state from constructing the highway.

Ted Long, attorney for a group of people opposing the highway and a San Bruno city councilman, asked that the Division of Highways be restrained from any further work until October 26 to allow those passing petitions calling for a referendum election to secure sufficient signatures and to file them.

Construction of the new freeway, Long said, would destroy the entire Crestmoor canyon.

"We are dealing with something more than just eight lanes of concrete," Long argued, citing the increased concern with ecology factors during recent years. He asked the freeway be halted until it can be put to a vote of the people.

Norville Fairman, attorney representing the highway division, said that agreements have been obtained with all affected agencies, including the city of San Bruno and the San Bruno school district.

Seniors Are Scholarship Semifinalists

Fifty-eight high school seniors in San Mateo County have been named among approximately 15,000 semifinalists in the 1971-72 National Merit Scholarship competition for about 3100 scholarships to be awarded next spring.

The scholarships are administered by the National Merit Scholarship Corp. of Evanston, Ill. More than 16,600 schools gave qualifying tests to some 655,000 students last February. The 15,000 top scorers represent less than one per cent of all graduating seniors in the nation.

A thousand of the merit scholarships will be one-time $1000 grants and 2100 of them are four-year scholarships worth up to about $1500 per year.

About 96 per cent of semifinalists will go on to become finalists next spring. Winners of the scholarships will be announced publicly next May.

Underwriting the scholarships are corporations, foundations, colleges, associations and individuals.

North San Mateo County semifinalists, by school:

Westmoor: David Sausjord, Janet Twohey.

Capuchino: Pamela Burleson, Daniel Kirshner.

Serra; Matthew Vuksinich.

El Camino: Mary Beam, Lorraine Hirsch.

South San Francisco: Nora Hsu, Beverly McCarthy.

Petition Drive Gains

The 380-Eight group effort to stop freeway construction from San Bruno to Pacifica through an initiative petition on the San Bruno municipal ballot is nearing completion.

Total signature count is above the three-quarter mark, according to group spokesman Mrs. Sylvia Gregory, of 141 Madison Avenue, San Bruno.

She said the group is shooting for a 30 per cent cushion to cover any invalidated signatures.

Petition carriers claim two more weekends of registering and petition passing should do the job.

Fire Service Offer Told

Millbrae will provide fire protection service for National Car Rental's new headquarters at San Francisco Airport, if the airport or the car rental agency will somehow provide the fire-fighting facilities.

That's the sense of a tentative agreement outlined to Millbrae City Council last week by Vice Mayor Bernard Esser, and reluctantly agreed to by his fellow councilmen.

Mayor James O'Connor led the reluctance, by saying he objects to the concept of providing fire protection on airport property, where the city has no water service, unless someone is willing to pay for installing a 12-inch water line so adequate protection can be provided.

Councilman Art Lepore said he objected, too, because the city cannot recover the money it will have to spend on providing fire service. "It will cost our taxpayers money, in the end," he said.

City Atty. John Gillio said the city would be required to provide fire protection on the property because it is within city limits, and suggested a limited agreement could be worked out for the city's protection.

City Administrator Richard Watson also commented that there would be no alternative, should National go ahead and build, and it seems wiser for the city to outline the proposed agreement.

Councilman Esser said National will be required to provide foaming fire protection devices and material, and the city firemen would operate that system in the event of a fire.

Unless National, or the airport, is willing to pay for a larger water line, he said, the city's liability will run out when the existing water supply does.

He said the airport had granted National a ten-year lease on the property, which abuts Millbrae's sewage treatment plant at the northwest corner of Bayshore and Millbrae Avenue, but that the lease contract requires National to provide its own utilities.

The cost of a foam fire protection was about as far as National wished to go, he indicated.

Councilmen agreed to a wine and art festival in the Millbrae Square-Civic Center area October 9 and 10, to be sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

The fete is to include booths for sausages, wine, cheese, and beer, as well as art displays, and roving musicians.

An October 1 and 2 street sale was also approved, though only the sidewalk will be closed on Broadway.

A public hearing was scheduled for October 19, on plans for a community television gathering antenna installation. Although the plan has been approved by the city's Planning Commission, and meets with the promises of the city to provide space for such an antenna, neighbors have objected.

James Parker, 161 La Prenda Avenue, last week asked for, and won, the public hearing.

'Cat Burglar' Of '61 Back In Custody

Albert Manuel DePonte, the "cat burglar" imprisoned in 1961 for committing a reported 200 home thefts in the Peninsula area, was arrested Sept. 21 in Millbrae, inside someone else's house.

DePonte had unknowingly tripped an alarm, and police were only a block away when they were alerted at 10:56 p.m.

They rushed to the house of Walter and Inez Klemme, 89 South Ashton Avenue, and found DePonte hiding in the garage.

Althouth he had opened a rear door to allow his escape, said police, he had not had time to reach it.

DePonte, 39, gave his occupation as "leatherworker" and his residence as 427 Beech Avenue, South San Francisco, when he was booked at San Mateo County Jail.

He was held without bail, and was to appear in Central Judicial District Court this morning, for arraignment.

Millbrae Police said they were informed that DePonte "is on lifetime probation," because of his previous record as a burglar.

He was released from state prison 15 months ago, after being sentenced by Judge J. A. Branson of San Mateo County, to serve three consecutive terms for burglary. DePonte had two prior commitments, and had escaped once, from jail in Stockton.

When arrested by San Mateo County Sheriff's Deputies in May, 1961, DePonte confessed to 63 burglaries in South San Francisco, 22 in San Bruno, nine in San Mateo, two in Belmont, two in Pacifica, and others in Marin County and this county's unincorporated areas.

Last week, he reportedly told Millbrae police this was his first burglary attempt since being released from prison 15 months ago.

Whether or not that is true, the old flair is gone.

In 1961, Albert DePonte used to scrawl his tradename "The Cat," on the bedroom mirrors of houses he burglarized.

He bragged that he carried no weapons, cased his jobs carefully, never injured anyone, and spent no more than 5 to 10 minutes inside a house.

In those days, his daytime occupation was as a roofer, and he kept in good physical shape by wrestling, running and using weights.

A month after DePonte was imprisoned in 1961, another man, Ray Taboada, was jailed as his "fence" and driver.

A New Pact For Parking At Airport

A new deal for airport parking was agreed upon last week by San Francisco's Airports Commission.

Without debate, and with no public objections, Commissioners quickly approved a new management contract for operation of the airport's parking garage and parking lots.

Airports Manager James K. Carr said "we recommend the management contract, because we have to move parking areas around," during the construction of various airport terminal area improvements, and the management contract will allow more flexibility.

"There is no way we could guarantee a given number of parking spaces in any one location, on any given day," he said.

"Perhaps after the construction is finished, a concession agreement would be better, but not now."

Nicholas C. Leonoudakis, president of the Joint Venture Company which submitted the lowest of 10 bids for the contract, promised improved efficiency and convenience for airport customers, plus "the highest possible financial return," for the city.

The Commission formalized an earlier approval of seeking bids on $292,000 worth of repair work on Runway 28-left. Approval had been obtained in a telephone poll of Commissioners, so the work could be coordinated with a rush job of repairing the runway light trestle on Runway 1-right.

Commissioners approved an $11,000 replacement to the Runway 1-left blast fence between the airport and Millbrae, authorized a $4000 audit of the airport's auditing processes, approved a third cafeteria for United Air Lines, to be built by the airline at a cost of $30,000, agreed to modify plans for Rotunda A at a cost of $3,861, and accepted a $223,879 job of extending power to the airport's sewage plant.

Employment Funds Allocated

How the $806,700 in federal Emergency Employment Act funds allocated to San Mateo County will be spread around was outlined Sept. 21 by County Manager M. D. Tarshes.

It will go to the 11 largest of the county's 19 cities and to the county itself to create a total of 113 jobs. Three cities—San Mateo, Belmont and San Carlos—have chosen to share their money with the San Mateo high and elementary school districts and the Belmont and San Carlos elementary districts.

The money was appropriated to fight unemployment in the nation's poverty areas. Of $600 million in the nation-wide program, more than $100 million is coming to California.

Tarshes said his staff worked out distribution of the county's money in conferences with city managers. Distribution is to be on the basis of the geographical location of the unemployment problem, Tarshes told the County Board of Supervisors, taking into consideration a jurisdiction's ability to quickly hire persons into a variety of jobs.

The county itself plans to create 29 jobs—28 public service trainees and a project director—in an effort to implement the county's new Affirmative Action program which calls for positive programs to hire and train disadvantaged persons. Hiring is scheduled for Friday.

Jurisdictions, other than the county, that will get a share of the money, and the number of jobs in each: San Mateo 9, Daly City 11, South San Francisco 9, Redwood City 10, Pacifica 9, San Bruno 6, Menlo Park 5, Burlingame 4, San Carlos 1, Belmont 3, Millbrae 2, San Mateo City School District 9, San Mateo High School District 3, San Carlos School District 3, Belmont School District 2.

Tarshes estimated the average salary will be about $7,200 a year. Viet Nam veterans are to have hiring preference.

The goal is to fund a three-year training project after which those remaining will be absorbed into regular employment.

Alex Frazer Is Cleared On Conduct

Alexander Fraser, an Oceana (Pacifica) High School English teacher who was suspended last February, was found not gulty Friday of all charges brought against him by the Jefferson Union High School District.

Superior Court Judge ruled that the district has no grounds to dismiss Fraser and ordered that he be reinstated and given his back pay, He will be entitled to back pay at the rate of $940 a month dating from February 21.

Fraser, a former president of the District Tachers' Association, was accused of immoral conduct and evident unfitness for service following his arrest by Pacifiea police on disorderly conduct charges last December 19. The district asked the court to authorize his dismissal.

The disorderly conduct charge was dismissed in court in May. Trial of the district's accusations was concluded Wednesday, with Judge Rose taking the case under submission.

Judge Rose said the evidence was that, following the end of school sessions before the Christmas vacation, Fraser attended three drinking parties. Several observers said he only appeared to be "a bit high," however. At 4 a.m. next day he was found in a ditch, disheveled and incoherent. He fought police officers and chemical spray was used to subduc him.

Officers suspected that he had taken LSD and one officer testified that Fraser admitted it.

Judge Rose noted that there were several bruises upon various parts of Fraser's body and a lump on his head.

"Defendant expressed the belief that he had had an encounter with two or three men who subjected him to a severe beating but was generally vague on being able to elaborate in any way on the assertion," the jurist said.

He noted that, despite his injuries and the belief that he had taken LSD, police did not have him examined by a physician.

Judge Rose said that Fraser's contention that he was the victim of an assault "is more credible than the assumption of the officers that he was merely under the influence of LSD."

The jurist added that there was no evidence to support the charge of immoral conduct because apparently no one saw him in the ditch.

"The other charge of evident unfitness for service," Judge Rose said, "was not sustained in any way by the testimony. The attempt to indicate the posibility that the report of the incident would constitute defendant as unfit for service was equivocal and inconclusive . . ."

Public to View New Hearing Aid

A new compression hearing aid that amplifies low signals and compresses strong signals will be displayed this month at the office of Custom Hearing Aid Service.

If you suffer from hearing problems and have searched for an answer, you may find it here. The all new compression hearing aid controls those too loud noises and lets you hear what you want to hear in crowds, in church, in traffic, noisy restaurants, and particularly in group conversations.

Although much expense has been incurred in the development of the compression hearing aid and many years of research envolved, it is moderately priced to the consumer and can be fitted to almost all hearing losses.

Full information can be obtained at 1130 Broadway, Burlingame, Ca.

S.M. 'Council of Cities' Plan Is Defeated, 9-8

A proposal to give the San Mateo County Council of Mayors more political muscle by making it a "council of cities" was rejected in a close vote at a meeting of the group in Pacifica Friday night.

As proposed by Mayor Irving S. Amstrup of Burlingame, all of the members of the county's 19 incorporated cities would have been admitted to membership. The purpose, he explained, would be to permit faster action by the cities on urgent matters, particularly on state legislation affecting cities.

Under the existing format, action proposed at one of the group's monthly meetings must wait until the following month to give the mayors, or their representatives, time to take it back to their councils for advice.

"I have heard it said that this is a social club," Amstrup told the group. "The time has come for us to broaden our thinking."

Several opposing speakers said the council works well as a forum for exchange of ideas and discussion of mutual problems and argued that Amstrup's proposal would make it too unwieldly and could cause the monthly meetings to deteriorate into a "crossfire" of intramural bickering.

The motion to change the name and basic structure of the organization was defeated by a 9-8 vote. Negative votes were cast by Atherton, Portola Valley, San Carlos, San Mateo, South San Francisco, Woodside, Half Moon Bay, Menlo Park and Belmont. Voting in favor were Brisbane, Burlingame, Daly City, Redwood City, San Bruno, Foster City, Millbrae and Pacifica.

After the defeat, Mayor Nat Landes of Woodside proposed that the bylaws be changed to permit attendance of all councilmen at the monthly meeting, without otherwise changing the structure of the organization. Action on that was delayed until the October meeting, to give time for the individual city councils to instruct their mayors on the proposal.

S.S.F. Hotel Bar Robbed

Three men, one brandishing a gun, held up the bar of the Industrial Hotel in South San Francisco Sept. 21 and escaped with $70.

Police said the three entered the bar at 505 Cypress Avenue at about 7:45 p.m. One man walked up to the bar and ordered three beers. A second stood in the doorway to the hotel and the third watched the back room.

According to police reports, the man ordering the beer pulled what appeared to be a .45 caliber western style revolver and ordered the bartender to open the cash register.

All three suspects were described as white males in their late 20's, and all with brown shaggy hair.

'Ask Yourself' Topic Planned

The 10:55 a.m., October 3, worship hour service at the Westside Baptist church in Pacifica will feature the ordinance of the Lord's Supper.

The pastor, A. David Donnelly, will speak on the sermon topic, "Ask Yourself."

Massive Recruiting For Area Boy Scouts

A massive recruiting program to enroll new members — youngsters as well as adults — in the Boy Scouts of America is scheduled to take place simultaneously in seven Bay Area Counties the night of September 30.

From 7 to 9 p.m., all elementary schools will be open for interested boys and their parents to learn about Scouting and to join up, according to Jim Johnston, district director of the BSA San Francisco Bay Area Council.

Participating Counties in "School Night for Scouting," Johnston said, are San Francisco, San Mateo, Santa Clara, Contra Costa, Alameda, Marin and Sonoma.

Depending on their ages, boys can become Cubs, Boy Scouts or Explorers, while parents can sign up to be unit leaders, Den Mothers, or other volunteer committee workers.

If existing units cannot absorb all of the new Scouts, Johnston pointed out, the boys and their parents will be able to meet with a Scout executive and a new unit organization formed immediately.

APPOINTED

Senator Arlen Gregorio (D-San Mateo) has announced the appointment of Glen W. Putnam as a Field Representative. Putman, 31, will work primarily in the Senator's district office in San Mateo.

140 Involved in Program

The 1971 Summer Reading Program, sponsored by the South San Francisco Public Library was concluded in the Children's Department of the Grand Avenue Branch recently.

Of the 140 boys and girls participating in the annual event, 110 members of the club enjoyed the festivities at the end of the program, according ot Mrs. Jacob Brandfass, librarian assistant and supervisor of the Grand Avenue Children's Department.

Approximately 71 who read 10 or more books received Reading Club certificates from Mrs. Brandfass and Paul Andreini.

Jacob Brandfass gave his own time to make the room as festive as possibile and topping off the decor was the huge circus mural. Paul Andreini again constructed another colorful creation in circus motif.

The children were escorted to Cith Hall to view the full length Walt Disney movie "Toby Tyler" in keeping with the circus theme. Back at the library, they were served ice cream, cookies and fruit punch. Each child also received a bag of peanuts and a bag of popcorn. Silverio and Sara Gonzales entertained with a tap dancing routine and a costume contest was held. Prizes were awarded to winners, Gloria Bird, Jill La Rochelle, Alvin Ung. and Dennis Bryant.

Additional prizes awarded were books, records and tote bags. The grand prize for the most "faithful" patron went to Felicitas Gonzales who read the most books.

Assiting Mrs. Brandfass were librarian assistants Joan Carnahan, Frances Regalia and Joan Serrata. Parents who volunteered to help included Mmes. Indemeda Gonzales, Molly Gatto, Bryant Welker and library pages Rachel Benavides, Francis Garcia and Barbara Boltz.

WOOD COURSE

Kindergarten Beefed Up

The South San Francisco Unified School District has launched this term a 200-minute kindergarten day to replace the previous 150-minute day at the 14 elementary schools.

"The additional time is to be used for better preparing of kindergarten children, not only socially and emotionally, but also in the very important field of reading readiness," said Dr. Paul Nielsen, the district's superintendent.

Teacher Held After Scuffle

A Pacifica elementary school teacher was arrested on a battery charge after an alleged scuffle with a police patrolman who stopped him about a traffic violation Thursday.

Glenn Stenstrom, 27, of 1508 Adobe Drive, was stopped at 5 p.m. on Crespi Drive by Pacifica police patrolman Robert T. Sanders, according to the authorities.

Stenstrom then pushed open the front door of his car, knocking the patrolman to the ground, police said.

The suspect then pounced upon the policeman and the two scuffled until three citizens stopped to assist Sanders, police allege.

South San Francisco Is Said Under Attack by Mosquitoes

Mosquitos are invading the Buri Buri and Winston Manor sections of South San Francisco.

Mel Seid, public health sanitarian in the North County, said the mosquito population increased as a direct result of the recent rise in temperature during the past weeks.

Seid stressed that there is no health danger, just many complaints. The only solution, he says, is for residents to eliminate potential breeding sources.

"The average mosquito mother isn't fussy about what she uses for a maternity ward," said Seid. "She lays her eggs in tin cans, fish ponds, bird baths, ornamental or wading pools—anywhere she can find water."

Seid said water is necessary in three of the four life stages of the mosquito. If the water is eliminated, the mosquito breeding will be eliminated, he said.

South San Francisco does not participate in the county weed abatement program. Initial annual cost is $20,000, said Seid.

Seid explained that there usually is no significant mosquito problem in the North County, mainly because temperatures usually don't rise to the level which aid incubation.

When the recent heat wave hit, an unusual number of complaints came in, both to city hall and the county health offices in South San Francisco.

Residents pointed the finger at a nearby nursery, a cemetery, and a couple of schools among other areas as being the breeding source.

Seid said mosquito specialists checked all these areas with negative results. The health sanitarians also spent one week checking more than 100 homes.

The consensus is that the solution lies in housekeeping for everyone in the two areas. "We've taken care of the obvious sources," said Seid.

Plans in 'Cold Storage'

This is a busy time for cancellations! There were two reports of cancellations given to me this week and, unfortunately, one of them came to late for any revision of facts to appear in this column prior to the previously established date. My apologies to all who might have gone to the Pacific Manor School this past Sunday to attend the annual veterans' benefit luncheon which was to have been sponsored by the members of the Pacifica Fifty Plus Club.

According to Mrs. Edna Laurel Calhan, president of the seniors, a combination of uncontrollable circumstances forced the abandonment of plans for the event. Due to the crowded calendar of the club the luncheon will not be held at a later date but $2 contributions from interested parties will be accepted so that the Fity Club members can stage the Menlo Park Veterans hospital Christmas Party again this year. Anyone interested in seeing to it that the hospitalized veterans of World War I have their traditional fun-fest may contact Mrs. Calhan, 564-5198, concerning a contribution.

The program of entertainment which had been prepared for Sunday has been placed in "cold storage" for a bit but will be warmed-up and livened-up for presentation the next time the Pacificans entertain the Seniors Forum of San Mateo County, possibly in May, Mrs. Calhan said.

THERE IS STILL PLENTY OF time for you to revise your P-TA meeting calendar and Mrs. William Holland of the Abraham Lincoln P-TA asks everyone to note that the Parents Welcome Back to School Night, originally on the agenda for October 5, has been postponed.

DEFINITELY NOT postponed is School Night for Scouting. Chairman of the event, Ralph Heath — could he be a relative? — reports that practically all elementary schools in the Serra district will have Scouting representatives on hand to enroll boys between the ages of 8 and 14 years at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Parents and boys who are interested in Cub Scouts or Boy Scouts will be welcomed with information about local units and given enrollment materials by the recruiters.

According to Heath, Serra District has a goal of 800 new boys and all the recruiters are eager to help get units and boys together during this annual drive. Check with your neighborhood school to see if the recruiter will be there or call Heath after 7 p.m. Thursday at the School Night for Scouting field headquarters located at Shakey's Pizza Parlor, 755-7000.

MEMBERS OF THE WESTLAKE Senior Citizens club is still welcoming new members to their Wednesday morning sessions in the Westlake Baptist Church, Southgate at Elmwood Drive.

According to Mrs. Frank Specht members are currently working on handmade items for the annual bazaar, to be held in November, as well as engaging in the usual games and casual conversation. Meetings begin at 10 a.m. and members bring bag lunches so that they may remain on into the afternoon hours.

MRS. BETTY SCHOTT of the Mary's Help Hospital Guild reports that the hospital now has more than 100 young people participating in the Volunteen program. The idea of using young persons as hospital volunteers was accepted in 1966 and since that time 500 students representing twelve peninsula high school, have served.

The hospital continues to draw a large and creative group of volunteers to its doors and four of the most recent to add their names to the roll of the Hospital Guild are Mrs. Walter Michaels, Mrs. Laurence Oates, Olive Smith and Mrs. Robert Von Glahn.

MRS. EUGENE CRANDALL and Mrs. Jerry Stringer, the co-chairmen of the models who will be taking part in the dinner-fashion show being sponsored by the North Peninsula Circle for the Florence Crittenton Home, have announced the names of the models who have been selected for the annual benefit.

Rolfe Peterson will be providing the commentary on October 16 as Mrs. Harold Tononi, Mrs. Edward Odenthal, Mrs. John Firpo, Mrs. Angelo Carmassi, Mrs. Jack Elsdon, Mrs. Raymond Ryan, Mrs. Bernard Lycett, Mrs. Michael Orlich, Mrs. David Heika and Mrs. H. Robinson Platt appear wearing creations provided for the show by The Fashion of Westlake.

The "Kind Gentlemen" mentioned in the theme of the show, Lovely Ladies, Kind Gentlemen, who will be wearing fashions for men from Arthur's of Westlake, are Paul Hupf, Frank Greenwood, Robert Mahoney, Albert Teglia, William Kennaugh and Edward Morgan.

MRS. R. L. ARIANI, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Bosley, Mrs. Murray H. Freedman and Mrs. Selmar Monro are among the localites who serve on the volunteer committee of the San Francisco Film Festival and, as such, were honored at a volunteers luncheon held recently at the Mother Lode restaurant in San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. Bosley have the most complicated job of being in charge of all official transportation required during the festival which will debut at the Palace of Fine Arts on October 2.

Following the luncheon many of the volunteers joined British Council General James Murray at a reception given aboard the yachts Victoriana and Coury 90.

Christine Lopez, Barry Pitt Wed

San Francisco will be the first address for Mr. and Mrs. Barry Alan Pitt (Christine Lopez) who were married Saturday evening at Peninsula Temple Sholom in Burlingame.

Prior to the 8:30 service the couple was feted at a dinner at the Hyatt House. They received felicitations after the wedding at the Temple.

Rabbi Gerald Raiskin performed the service for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Lopez of San Mateo and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Pitt of Millbrae.

For her wedding the bride selected a long Empire gown with lace cuffs, chiffon, sleeves and a gathered chiffon skirt. She carried a nosegay of phaleanopsis orchids and stephanotis.

Sole attendant for her sister was Patricia Lopez. She wore a long costume with a white lace bodice and long lace sleeves and a pink chiffon skirt and matching satin bow at the waistline. Her flowers were pink and white carnations.

Lawrence Gilbert of Millbrae stood with Barry as best man and William Walter of Los Angeles seated guests who included Mrs. Bobbie Kassell of Amarillo, Tex., the bride's grandmother; Mrs. Lena Pitkowsky of Los Angeles, the benedict's grandmother; Mrs. Ann Meisner, also of Los Angeles, his great aunt, and the Sol Shapiros of Beverly Hills and the Mike Kreitenbergs of Los Angeles, his aunts and uncles.

Christine and Barry are alumni of the College of San Mateo where they were both affiliated with Alpha Gamma Sigma Honor Society. She will be attending San Francisco State in the fall and he will be continuing his education at the University of California at Berkeley. Cheryl Pitt is his sister and Linda and Diane Lopez are also sisters of the bride.

Hayward is the first address for Mr. and Mrs. George Stephen Mathiesen (Trudie JoAnn Hawkins) who were married at St. Dunstan's Church in Millbrae and honeymooned in Hawaii. The respective parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. William R. Hawkins of Millbrae and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mathiesen of Hayward.

County Residents Recite Promises

White gladioli and white stock banked the altar at St. Bruno's Church last Saturday afternoon when Vickie Crothers became the bride of Kevin A. Schindler.

The 1:30 service was followed by a reception at the Crystal Springs Golf Club. Floral arrangements at the reception site included yellow roses, tropicana roses, pink and yellow daisies, green miniature carnations and baby's breath.

Vickie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Amos C. Crothers of San Bruno. When she walked to the altar with her father she was dressed in a floor length candelight gown of imported English lace. The costume featured wide cuffs, long puffed sleeves, a scalloped hemline and a high scooped neck edged with a lace ruffle and a row of pearls. Tiny satin buttons detailed the front of her bodice and her cuffs.

A tiny Venise lace floral headpiece sprinkled with pearls secured the bride's pure silk candlelight floor length illusion veil. White roses, stephanotis and baby's breath were fashioned in the colonial bouquet she carried.

Patricia Crothers, her sister's maid of honor, wore a yellow satin gown with flocked, floral overlay. Similar gowns in orange, green and pink satin were worn respectively by Susan Hornug of Peoria, Ill., Vickie's cousin, Christine Schindler, Kevin's sister-in-law, and Linda Crothers, another sister of the bride, who were all secondary attendants.

A white satin miniature version of the senior attendants' gowns was worn by Christine Crothers, her sister's flower girl.

Dennis Schindler was best man for his brother. Both are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Michael K. Schindler, of San Bruno. Ushering duties were shared by Michael Schindler, another brother of the bridegroom, Patrick Casey and Larry Sanders. Brian Schindler, another brother, was ring bearer.

Mrs. Crothers witnessed her daughter's wedding in an aqua blue long sleeved chiffon dress with a sleeveless vest coat of aqua blue brocade. White roses were attached to her purse.

Mrs. Schindler wore white roses on her powder blue brocade dress with matching jacket.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Claude L. Kendall, the bride's maternal grandparents, Susan Hornung and Mrs. Philip Hornung, the bride's aunt, all of Peoria.

After receiving felicitations the new matron changed to a long sleeved jersey print in shades of pinks and purples for her wedding trip to Lassen National Park. After their honeymoon, the newlyweds will reside in San Luis Obispo.

Vickie and Kevin were graduated from Crestmoor High School and he completed his studies at Cal Poly where he belonged to the Industrial Engineers Club.

Fontana Presides Over Historical Society Meeting

The San Mateo County Historical Association's first meeting for new president, Elio A. Fontana, was attended by Mrs. William P. Bardet, secertary; Robert L. Berry, treasurer and board of directors, Miss Maryann Danielson, George Dean, Harold A. Fick, Norman Hynding, Mrs. Pat Olsen, Miss Virginia Ross, William Reich, Mrs. Joseph Scaroni, Earl Schmidt, Jr., Richard Schellens.

Fontana commended Leslie Merrill, executive director of the San Mateo County Historical Association and Museum, who was appointed president of the Conference of California Historical Societies (200 historical societies included).

Fontana stressed the need to increase the membership. The San Mateo County Historical Association is one of the outstanding historical societies in all of California, having published historical books on the Bay and San Mateo County area.

The Historical Society will provide speakers on San Mateo County History for any organication or group. They can call the museum in San Mateo and-or Fontana in Colma.

Funds are available to encourage research in San Mateo County history (in courses at the San Mateo Junior College District), he said.

Fontana asked the Board to meet monthly (rather than once every three months) to pursue a membership building program, promote greater participation.

Toasting each other after their recent marriage at St. Mary's College Chapel in Moraga are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Keith (Jamie Ann Ryan) who honeymooned in Hawaii and are living in San Francisco. Jamie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Ryan of San Bruno and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Keith of San Anselmo are the benedict's parents.

THE POST'S Family Forum

NELL NORTON

Sugar 'n Spice

Good morning, good cooks.

Did you ever hear this old joke? "What are the three fastest ways to spread news? Answer: "Telephone, telegram and tell a woman." Ho ho.

One kind of news that we ladies do love to spread is news about good food. A friend of mine lives in Ohio and generously shares recipes with me and ultimately with you good cooks. These meat balls are much favored in her vamily.

SCANDINAVIAN MEAT BALLS

1 pound ground beef
¼ cup seasoned bread crumbs
¼ cup minced onion
1 egg
2 Tablespoons chopped parsley
1 can (10½ oz.) condensed cream of celery soup
½ can water
1 Tablespoon minced dill pickle

Combine the pound beef, fourth cup each bread crumbs and minced onion, one egg and two tablespoons parsley. Shape into 24 meat balls. Brown in large heavy skillet, pour off drippings.

Stir in the can celery soup, half can water and one tablespoon chopped dill pickle. Cover, cook over low heat for 20 minutes, stirring often. Serve with hot rice. Serves four.

I RECENTLY TOOK a molded salad to a party. Though it was one I'd made many times it was new to the hostess and other guests. If you've never tried it I recommend it highly. It comes from an excellent booklet from General Foods.

RIBBON SALAD

1 pkg. (3 oz.) each — Lemon, Lime and Raspberry Gelatins
3 cups boiling water
1 cup miniature or diced marshmallows
1½ cups cold water
2 packages (3 oz. each) cream cheese, softened
½ cup mayonnaise
1 cup whipped cream
1 can (1 lb. 4½ oz.) crushed pineapple

Dissolve the gelatin flavors separately, using 1 cup boiling water for each. Stir the one cup marshmallows into lemon gelatin; set aside. Add the three-fourths-cup cold water to lime gelatin; pour into a 13x9x2-inch pan. Chill until set, but not firm.

Add three-fourths cup cold water to raspberry gelatin; set aside at room temperature. Then add the six ounces cream cheese to lemon mixture; beat until blended. Chill until slightly thickened. Then blend in the half cup mayonaise, one cup whipped cream and can crushed pineapple. Chill until very thick; spoon gently over lime gelatin. Chill until set, but not firm.

Meanwhile, chill raspberry gelatin until thickened; pour over lemon gelatin. Chill until firm.

To serve, cut in squares. Makes about 10 cups or 12 to 15 servings.

NOTE: If deeper green and red layers are desired, use 6 oz. packages gelatin and 2 cups boiling water and 1½ cups cold water for each large package.

These orange flavored bar cookies make a delicious dessert and are nice for lunch boxes too.

ORANGE-MARMALADE BARS

1¼ cups sifted flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
6 Tablespoons margarine
½ cup granulated sugar
2 eggs
1½ Tablespoons orange marmalade
1 Tablespoon grated orange rind
½ cup orange juice

Sift together the one and one-fourth cups flour, one and one-half teaspoons baking powder and fourth teaspoon salt. Beat in mixer, six tablespoons margarine, half cup sugar until light and fluffy. Add the eggs one at a time beating each addition. Stir in the one and one-half tablespoons margarine and one tablespoon grated orange rind. Add the sifted dry ingredients alternately with the half-cup orange juice. Mix well. Pour into greased and floured 8-inch square cake pan and bake in 350-degree oven 35 to 40 minutes. Cool and frost.

FROSTING

1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
1 Tablespoons orange juice
Grated orange peel

Blend the cup confectioners' sugar and the two tablespoons orange juice. Spread over cookies and grate a bit of orange rind over all. Cut in squares to serve.

Judge Carey Is Program Speaker

Judge Robert E. Carey will be guest speaker on October 6, at the first of a five-part annual SOS program sponsored by Burlingame-San Mateo Chapter 54 of Parents Without Partners, Inc. His talk will be on the "Family Law Act," also known as the new California Divorce Laws.

Parents Without Partners (PWP) sponsors the program as a community service to help people who are going through the trauma of divorce, widowhood, separation, or contemplating a divorce. The SOS program serves as a yellow caution sign rather than a stop or go in its message to the public.

All five parts of the program, including four lectures and one panel discussion, are free-of-charge and held at Parkside School on five consectutive Wednesdays from 8 to 10 p.m. The school is located at 1685 Eisenhower Street, (near So. Norfolk St.-Nineteenth Avenue turnoff), San Mateo.

Judge Carey is currently judge of the Superior Court in charge of domestic relations. He previously held a judgeship in the Municipal Court, Southern District. Prior to that, he was chief deputy in the district attorney's office in Redwood City. Before all this, he was in law practice.

He is a graduate of the University of California and received his Ph. D. in law from the University of San Francisco. He is married and the father of three children, the oldest of which is in law school and the other two are in high school.

There will be a question and answer period at the end of each program and a table displaying books and literature dealing with divorce and single life plus an information table on Parents Without Partners.

For further information, please call the PWP Answering Service at 344-6406.

Stuffed Groom

In the world of psychology, there is an unexamined area of human endeavor that needs to be discussed. It involves the question: "Why do young husbands get fat?"

Look at the engagement and wedding photos on these pages in the next few days. Most of the young men have that lean, sinewy, hungry look. The vast majority of them have clearly discernable single chins. There isn't a jowl to be found anywhere. The average waist size is 32.

But if we were to take their pictures six months after the ceremony and run them in the paper, some of the bloom would be stripped from the traditionally vibrant matrimony pages.

The groom would no longer slip easily into the adjective "gaunt." He would be more comfortable in "portly."

So what happened? Do regular meals alone account for all this?

Well, it's scientifically verifiable that three square meals a day are more lasting than a hastily gulped hamburger. But there's far more to it than that. And it involves the psychological interaction of the newlyweds. We call it the Payate Syndrome from the Sanskrit 'payate', meaning 'He swells.'

The Payate Syndrome comes into play shortly after the honeymoon, when the justweds settle into their new married life.

The normal male in this relationship has been instructed since birth to clean up his plate. When he was an adolescent, this wasn't difficult since his growing body burned up everything he could choke down.

But now things are different. Carbohydrates and cholesterol have a way of hanging around long after dinner. They begin to make a home around the waist, under the chin and along the posterior.

So in this marriage, the normal male clashes with the normal female.

The normal female has one thought in her subconscious which triggers her behavior in the relationship — "I'll be a better wife and cook than his mother ever was."

So here's the poor groom, conditioned to eating everything before him. And here's the bride, exiting the kitchen with roast beef, biscuits, wine, potatoes, beans, butter, salad, corn, pie and ice cream.

The poor groom smiles weakly — and digs in. To decline would be to insult the love of his life.

His little stomach cries out in anguish as he shovels in forkful after forkful. Rolaids and Alka-Seltzer stock jumps three points. Finally, after a few weeks of this, his stomach begins to accommodate the load — and expands. After six months of marriage, he has gained at least thirty pounds.

"Delicious, Dear," he says repeatedly, being ever careful of her feelings.

Sadly, this loving compliment only serves to spur her on to greater heights. Homemade bread, dumplings, brownies, cakes, candies.

But why doesn't the bride expand her girth during this time?

Because she only nibbles on this feast. A bit of this. A bite of that. The rest of her time at the table is spent watching her man chow down and patting herself on the back over what a wonderful wife she is.

Now all this may not seem very serious to you, but the Payate Syndrome is usually closely followed by the Repose Complex. And that is serious.

This poor overstuffed groom, within a few short months, begins to lose his vitality. Each evening he pushes himself away from the table, stuffed to the gills, and staggers to the couch, where he enters the state of Repose. He is usually asleep by 8 o'clock.

At first, the loving wife views Repose with motherly contentment. As she washes the stacks of dishes, she tells herself this is what marriage is all about.

But then Resentment creeps in. He isn't full of life anymore. We don't dance 'til dawn anymore. We never go out anymore. Et cetera, Et cetera.

If allowed to run unchecked, these feelings can result in one of three things. (1) a miserable marriage, (2) divorce, (3) a crime of violence. All of these things are bad.

First Meeting for Cub Pack No. 137

Other Webelo awards went to: Juan Cabezas, outdoorsman and a certificate of graduation, Ronny Arjo, Citizen pin and Mike Watkins, engineer pin.

Cathy Sangemino, who has been Den Mother and Coach for the past 4 years was presented with a Thank You pin and a gift of appreciation for the fine job she has been doing. Cathy in turn presented Thank You pins to Den Mothers, Sharon Keller and Liane Farber.

The cub scouts will march in the camparaee parade on October 22. October 16 will be the pack outing to Frontiers Village. "School Night for Scouting" will be held at 7:30 p.m., September 30, at Fairmont School. To promote ideas of scouting, Explorer Post 137, troop 137 and Pack 137 will all combine their efforts in presenting scouting skills, slides of the 50 miler hike taken this summer, scouting ceremonies and skits. All boys and their families interested in scouting are invited to attend. The next pack meeting will be October 15 at San Andreas School at 7:45 p.m.

During an impressive candelight ceremony the Arrow of Light badges were presented to Steven and Mitchell Reitman along with the Certificate of Graduation.

The traditional Picture Frame containing the symbols of the boys' achievements earned in Cub Scouting was also presented to Steve and Mitchell. Mel Reitman, who recently turned over his cubmaster duties to Gil Hulsman was presented with a recognition plaque for his two years of leadership in Pack 137. And a Thank You pin was given to Mrs. Reitman for her contributions to the pack. To top the evening off, Jim Haug from the Knights of Columbus gave a showing of cartoons to the delight of all the Cub Scouts present.

Book Covers Are Distributed

Grand Knight Tom Curr and Past Grand Knight Jim Haug recently distributed the new Knights of Columbus book covers to the Catholic grammar schools in the Colma, Daly City, and Pacifica areas.

The book covers were specially designed for the Knights of Columbus and come in two themes. The boys' cover has a picture of Christopher Columbus in front of a backdrop of stars; also on the cover is Columbus' flagship Santa Maria and NASA's LEM, depicting two important steps in man's exploration of the earth and the universe. The girls' cover has a painting of Jesus Christ on the front. On each cover there is an inspirational message that will give the students a lesson to think about each time they look at it.

The book covers were donated by Marian Council No. 3773 to the following principals and their schools: Sister Patricia Clare, Good Shepherd; Sister Helen, Holy Angels; Sister Veronica, Our Lady of Mercy; Sister Carol, Our Lady of Perpetual Help; Sister Joyce Cox, Saint Thomas More.

DALY CITY MAYOR Bernard (Bud) Lycett signs proclamation designating October 3 as Catholic Daughters of America Day. Witnessing the official act are Mrs. Thomas Baldwin, district CDA deputy, and Mrs. George Day, regent of Court St. Mary's, Daly City. The Daly City court was organized in 1930. Among its charitable projects through the years: Annual scholarships to Our Lady of Perpetual Help School, to seminarians as well as donating to St. Vincent de Paul, Meals for Millions, the U.S. Navy's Operation Handclasp; Christmas presents to Agnews State Hospital, San Francisco General Hospital and hours donated by members to help in parishes, schools, transportation for cancer patients, visiting the elderly in nursing homes, collecting medicine, clothing and other material for missions overseas) and making bandages for lepers.

Better Understanding of Catholic Education Sought

A better understanding and wider support of Catholic education in the community are the aims of a newly formed group called South San Francisco Citizens for Catholic Education.

Some proposed projects of the group are to inform public officials of the growing inability of Catholic schools to continue without outside support; to inform the community about the cost and curriculum of Catholic schools and to search out various means of support to Catholic schools that now are not being utilized.

At the group's second meeting yesterday was a planning session on how to accomplish these goals.

According to the California Educational Act, Section 16806, non-public students may ride public school buses if it is approved by the local school board.

The South San Francisco Citizens for Catholic Education is an outgrowth of a committee appointed last spring by the Archdiocese of San Francisco Board of Education to study the feasibility of consolidating services of the three Catholic elementary schools in South San Francisco. A report on the findings of the consolidation committee will be given at the meeting.

Representatives from the three parishes in San Francisco were present at the first meeting of SSFCCE held in August. All Souls was represented by Mario Raffaelli and William Malone. Present from Mater Dolorosa were Ray Latham, Mrs. Lawrence Delucchi, Mrs. Joseph McNulty, Mrs. Joseph Grossman and Father William Scott, assistant pastor at Mater Dolorosa.

St. Veronica's was represented by Mrs. Richard Harnett, Mrs. George Hadfield, Mrs. William Barner, Mrs. Courtland Lee, Mrs. Michael Raddie and Mrs. Raymond Herold.

Terra Nova Topics

By Rockie Montenegro

Camille Broye of Switzerland, T.N.'s American Field Service exchange student who will be attending classes here this year, spoke and answered students' questions at an informal after-school reception last Wednesday.

Camille comes from Voissens, a village in Switzerland, and attends a boys boarding school in Fribourg, which he will return to after his year of studying in the United States.

The classes he is taking here include many solid subjects — Chemistry, Spanish, College Prep. Writing, Journalism, American Studies, and P.E. After spending two weeks in an American high school, Camille's first impression is that American students come to school with more pleasure because they are able to choose elective classes that most interest them, in a wide range of subjects.

In his school in Switzerland, students have a limited choice of subjects, and after they have chosen between a commercial or literary course of study at the age of 12, their programs are more or less set for the next eight years of study.

Camille is studying under the literary course. In this course, there are three categories which he can study — scientific, classic, or modern languages. Since Camille is a student of modern languages, his program of study for the last year consisted of Latin, (for 5 hours a week), German (4 hours), English (4 hours), French, (5 hours), Math 4 hours, History (2 hours) and Biology (2 hours).

FORMAL EDUCATION in Switzerland begins at age 6. Primary school ends at age 12, and from ages 12-20 students attend "college." From there, students may go ahead to the famous swiss universities, which students from all over the world come to Switzerland to attend.

Unlike American high schools, the teachers in Swiss schools are the ones who change classes, not the students. Aside from that, Camille finds no great difference between Swiss and American teachers.

Teaching methods, also, are basically the same. It is a lot harler for students to pass on to the next year of study there, however, and students must pass lengthy examinations at the end of the year.

The social aspect of American high school (clubs, sports) are non-existent in Swiss schools, which take on a purely academic attutde.

Sports are an individual activity. There are no teams or coaches, and boys can usually get together after school or on free time if they feel like playing a game of football or soccer.

Camille likes the clubs and after-school activities, and feels that here the students have many opportunities to develop many outside interests through the school. Camille has joined the cross-country team, and is a member of the high school AFS club.

BEING A GOOD UNION man we appraise each strike calmly. Lord knows we've had enough strikes to appraise lately. But when a strike hurts innocent persons through no fault of their own, then we get mad. There are two such strikes now under way in the North County that have got our dander up.

First is the teachers' or ex-teachers' strike. We have been told that the Labor Council has not given permission for the delivery of hot lunches at the schools because the trucks would have to cross picket lines. This has thrown the hot lunch program for ALL children out the window.

Most of all the needy kids, who can't afford to brown bag it (that was the reason for the program in the first place), are being hurt. That's where we draw the line. Does the labor council really believe those hot lunches for the kids will make the difference whether the strike is a success or failure? And is this the way the striking teachers feel they will get community support, especially from the parents of those children being deprived of lunches? Doubtful!

THE OTHER STRIKE is that of our beloved cemetery workers and the folks who run the cemeteries — the people that promised for a price to give our gravesites "perpetual care." Everyone seems to be complaining about the weeds and how "horrid" the grave sites look. If you want to see the "horrid" side of the strike, we suggest they go talk to some of the folks who have lost loved ones and are still waiting for the burial ceremonies. The remains have been stored away in mortuary basements for three months and some are beginning to make their presence known. All the deodorants in the world will soon not help. A human body will keep only so long. Mortuaries have placed many of the remains in special bags and dusted them with preservatives. This routine has not halted the natural breakdown — only delayed or prolonged it. It is evident to us that neither side in this dispute will get together.

Don't ask us why. We feel the only answer at this time is for the Health Department to step in and declare the matter a health hazard.

The courts are too slow. The cemetery workers and their leader don't seem to care. Ditto the cemetery operators, for all their tongue clicking and hangdog looks. Mortuaries are not equipped to store these earthly remains and are OUT OF SPACE. This is not a friendly neighborhood walkout any longer. This is a dire emergency.

MEMO TO BH — Daly City officials are still waiting for you to turn in those plans for your posposed multi-storied senior citizens apartment complex. City Mgr. David Rowe informed this column you were asked in written communications for the material so it could be presented at the study session of October 4.

NEED SOME HALF DOLLARS? The First National Bank of D.C. will hold a drawing every half-hour at its new facility in San Bruno during its open house on September 30. If a person's name is drawn, they get to reach into a large jar filled with half-dollars. Best of all, they get to keep all the loot they can hold in one fist. The new branch, number five in the fast-growing chain, is at 111 San Bruno Avenue West.

FLASHY FLASH — Watch for another First National branch in Millbrae.

ADDED NOTE to cemetery strife: Lots of support businesses — monuments, flowers, et al — are hurting, and we mean BADLY. One monument maker has had to lay off some of his old-time employes, a first for his 80-year-old company.

GLENN SOUTH, popular administrator with the JUHSD, suffered a severe heart attack last week. He felt it coming on and drove to his doctor's office. From there it was a fast ambulance ride to Peninsula Hospital. Doing fair. No visitors or calls.

THAT BUS SHELTER on Skyline Boulevard near Westridge in D.C. is continaully getting wasted. Someday some of the folks who wait out the bus will be zapped, mark these words. Mrs. Dinkel, one of the shelter's users, along with many of her neighbors has petitioned the council for action on a guard rail. Now begins the "study" which will determine who is responsible for the area. Methinks the State Division of Highways has control over thar fog-bound stretch of roadway. So let's get them moving on that guard rail.

WE SPOKE TOO SOON on dog control around the city. Some dogs are back to their old habits on public, and private, property. The city should put their foot down on this. We did and boy are we mad . . . at the dog owners. There is an ordinance, you know. P.S. We would remind City Atty. Albert Polonsky that it takes FIVE signatures on a barking dog complaint — not one. And this goes for all citizens, regardless who they may purport to be.

The 50-Cent Movie Plan—It Works

By BOB PETERSON

Movie houses aren't what they used to be, admission-wise that is.

A new trend appears rising steadily — the 50-cent theater.

Setting the pace on the Peninsula is the El Camino Theater in San Bruno, operated by Associated Cinemas, Inc., headquartered in Petaluma.

In addition to this theater, the group also operates 50-cent houses in Redwood City (the Fox) and San Mateo (the San Mateo) on the Peninsula.

They have started the 50-cent trend in the East Bay, too, with a theater in Oakland and another in Hayward.

Although the strongest on the Peninsula, Associated Cinemas is not the only 50-cent theater operation. One other is the Manor Theater in San Mateo, operated by the West Valley Theaters organization.

Gordon Seymour, manager of the Manor Theater, said the idea of becoming a 50-cent house had been discussed for some time, but admitted they waited to move after Associated Cinemas took the initial plunge in June.

"Fantastic" is the word often used to describe the success of 50-cent theaters.

"We're doing better than any theater around," said Joe Falk, manager of the El Camino Theater. He also fills in as projectionist.

Falk said the 800-seat theater was filled the seven nights "Patton" was on the marquee. And the trend since opening has been to nearly fill the seats with every picture.

"Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid" and "MASH" were so successful they were held over for a second week, according to Falk.

The success, as a matter of fact, is causing a minor problem. The area once established as theater parking now is used as an automobile agency's lot.

Some merchants near the theater have been complaining to city officials that theater patrons are using up all the parking spaces the merchant's patrons usually used.

The El Camino Theater hasn't had the best image as far as family theater going is concerned. Associated Cinemas is slowly changing this.

Patrons now enjoy a new snack bar facility. This alteration, incidentally, is as beneficial for the theater operators as it is convenient to patrons.

Theater goers as a rule rarely bypass the snack bar. Many spend the difference of the 50-cents they paid to get in and the $2 it would have cost them to go to a higher-priced theater.

Other renovation work is being done, including replacing some seats, putting up curtains, doing some general painting, and lotsa plain housecleaning.

Aldo Baccala, manager of the Redwood City theater and a vice president of the corporation, said "We are going to give our patrons a clean place." The Redwood City theater opened in July.

Baccala contends only about five percent of the public ever goes to the movies anymore. He says that by showing top movies at the 50 cent price the other 95 percent will start coming back.

"The movie theaters have been pricing themselves out of the market," said Baccala. He added he didn't necessarily want others to come down to his price, to adversly affect his success. "I left a very secure position to do this," he said.

Baccala credits corporaton president Daniel Tocchini with the impetus to begin and expand the 50 cent operations. He has more than 15 years in the theater business.

Other officers of the corporation, all from Petaluma, are William Foster, vice president, who handles most of the real estate proceedings, and Tom Lazzarini, responsible for film bookings and personnel matters. Baccala keeps the snack bars operational.

As Baccala explains it, some "good friends" got together, pooled their resources and skills, and invested these assets in theater properties. The San Bruno theater for example, was purchased from United Artists, the Redwood C ty house once belonged to National General.

Baccala refers to the setup as a "mom and pop" operation since investments are shared and split in various ways. Investors include everyone from uncles to airline pilots, he said.

The group also hires locally, works closely with the projectionist union and maintains membership in the janitors union.

As to the type of films, Baccala said there will only be good films shown, no x-rated pictures.

"We are trying to reach every viewing audience," he said. Plans are being made to present Laurel and Hardy movies, plus Spanish language films for the Redwood City audience and matinees for the kids.

Films are paid for, based on the percentage of box-office take, the same as in a higher-priced theater. However, the 50-cent theaters can't get first run movies. And it appears (so far anyhow) that they don't need them.

Baccala said he doesn't think this is a passing fad.

Manor Theater manager Seymour aiso feels the low price is bringing in patrons who have not been to the movies in years.

"We're building a family clientele," he said. "We've had excellent crowds." Seymour said many patrons include the older persons on fixed incomes and young people "who can now take a date to the movies at a reasonable price."

Discouraging Pattern in American-Asian Policy and Relationships Observed

American-Asian policy and relationships follow a recurring and discouraging pattern. We support, we recommend; they do as they please, they lose.

The analogy between the American problems with Chiang Kai-Shek and Thieu, while not exact, is illuminating. If one equates American objectives with Chiang during World War II with our objectives with Thieu at the present time, the comparison is shocking.

What we wanted with Chiang was a rational program for fighting the Japanese. This was to include cessation of graft, consolidation of armies and divisions, use of material and willingness to enter the fray. Chiang thwarted American initiatives at every turn. He promised and retreated; he gave authority and then under-cut; he talked fight and fought all our efforts to fight. By 1945 Chiang had backpeddled his way to the peace table as a seeming equal but, by ignoring common sense suggestions, had lost a nation. Left was the illusion of Formosa and the tragedy of mainland China.

What had happened seems, from this point of time, clear. Chiang was really the only possible choice, and he knew it. We shipped material, money, tanks, food, and precious planes. We never really did have the courage to face Chiang's short-comings and threaten non-support and withdrawal if he did not do the plain and simple things necessary to gain strength.

Now, turn a quarter-century and observe Thieu. This time we seek elections. Thieu promises and connives. With elaborate and painstaking care he has arranged the most publicized non-election in history.

Thieu's manipulations disclose a national government that is democratic in form but authoritarian in fact. The trappings of democracy (elections, a legislature and the judiciary) have been perverted by one man to assure his retention of power. Potential opponents (Nguyen Kao Ky and General Minh) found themselves in comic opera roles as Thieu's adagio dance went through its convoluted motions. The Supreme Court of South Vietnam should be the envy of every American President who has been surprised by the behavior of his judicial appointees after they discovered the delights of lifetime tenure. Thieu knows his Court; his Court knows what Thieu wants and the two get together all too often.

How similar the implorings of Ambassador Bunker are to the earlier day urgings of Vinegar Joe Stillwell.

Thieu, who at the outset appeared to be safely electable, had to have his own cute way, and seems to have condemned his regime to years of hazardous existence. The tear gas, concussion grenades, barbed wire, fire bombs and immolations may just be starting. Having opted for an electoral coup, Thieu faces the possibility of a more serious one.

Recently Ky, in a moment of pique, may have accurately described the situation. He claimed that South Vietnam has known two powderkegs, one big and one small and that the one in 1963 detonated but that the fuse for the big one has yet to be found.

It is reported that America has warned the military of South Vietnam that any coup against Thieu would lead to an end of American support. This kind of talk suggests an even more practical step: that we speak in similar fashion to Thieu and that the alternative be the holding of legitimate elections. Otherwise no one in Vietnam is likely to take us very seriously. We demand elections. Thieu backs us down. We then threaten his opponents that if they counter his coup with a coup we will withdraw.

Ambivalence is our problem. We support men with feet of clay but pretend they are better than they are. Popular myth had it that Chiang was the leader of a great and strong democratic regime. We never confronted him with the real choice (elimination of lend lease unless he cleaned up his ineffective government) because we couldn't afford to shatter our own illusions.

Self deception also clouds our relationship with South Vietnam. We have created an illusion of a national government that is democratically based and have forgotten that the Vietnamese tradition of village and local elections does not extend to the national level. As a result, the dream world South Vietnam and the real world South Vietnam have two different governments.

Thieu's course has forced us to a time of awakening. He has brought our interest in fighting Communists into direct clash with our conceptions of the fundamental reasons for our involvement. To this must be added the manifest danger that his foolishness may eventually bring about the disintegration of central government in South Vietnam.

Again, remember Chiang. By failing to walk him to the cliff's edge and to demand rational reform we assisted in his own self destruction. At great expense the United States bought a box seat to watch him walk over the edge of the precipice at his own pace. Unfortunately, he took China with him.

Thieu's conniving has brought us to a similar turn. It seems we should demand cancellation of the October travesty and that President Thieu meet his people in free and open elections at an early and appropriate time.

THE MARQUEE

To call 'Johnny Got His Gun' a "family" picture would be in error by today's definition. But in another sense it is a picture made by a family: one that has author Dalton Trumbo at its head.

Bruce Campbell, the producer, is Trumbo's son-in-law. His wife and daughter both worked the technical end. And the unseen relatives of the picture are those encased in frames in the bedroom scene where the father dies. They actually are Trumbo's ancestors and the house on West 55th Street in Los Angeles is the house he grew up in as a boy.

You might call the making of the film a lifelong project. He wrote the book in 1938 and many times thought of it being filmed but survival, both in and out of prison for his indictment during the McCarthy era as one of the blacklisted Hollywood Ten interfered.

Now 33 years later, the urbane writer of more than 40 screenplays including the 1957 Oscar winner, "The Brave One" has been rewarded for 'Johnny.' Not only did the book win an award but the film of the same name received two prizes at this year's Cannes Film Festival.

"Completing the picture was like coming out of a fever. I enjoyed directing it and will continue to direct if the film is a success. Otherwise I'll stick to writing."

He reminded us that many famous directors were writers: Bergman, Fellini, Truffaut, Kirasawa, Godard, Huston and George Seaton.

"It's a natural progression but I'd advise writers to enter the directing field earlier than I did."

His other advice to aspiring writers is to "get a job in TV or commercial films, porno if necessary but get close to the practical application of it.

"I operate from learning rather than talent."

During Trumbo's 13 years underground he did 30 film scripts under 13 nom de plumes, one of which was Robert Rich who was credited with writing "The Brave One" when the Academy Award was presented. It was Otto Preminger who first put Trumbo's name back on the credits after the purge for his script "Exodus."

"I was Sam Jackson for 'Spartacus' and once used my wife's maiden name C. B. Demain for a McCall's magazine piece. My favorite film is "Lonely Are The Brave" and my biggest disappointment was "The Fixer" for how it was edited.

"I thought 'The Sandpiper' was a good script too but I wrote the lead role as a 23 year old artist living in a shack at Big Sur. That's hardly the image Elizabeth Taylor had with 22 costume changes by Irene Shariff. They got around it by putting a sewing machine in her living room.

"I was invited on location but didn't go. I find the Burtons difficult companions."

He discovered Timothy Bottoms who plays the demanding lead role of Joe, the soldier who comes back from war a basket case, by interviewing 600 unknowns.

"There was a shyness about Tim I liked. The French. It sold 50,000 in 1939 and last year sold 350,000 refers to a short time when youth pollinates and blooms out. Tim had it then. It's gone now but it was right for the film. I'm delighted he's being sought for several important roles now on the strength of his performance in my film."

There is an interesting side story about Bottoms whose only acting experience had been in high school plays in Santa Barbara. Two months before graduation he went to Hollywood and walked into an agent's office looking for a job.

The agent took him over to the 'High Chapparal' set where they immediately offered him $800 a week for 13 weeks. He went home to think about it and to discuss the contract with his family and figured it wasn't really what he was looking for and turned it down. Trumbo picked his picture out of thousands submitted by agents and the young man began working on the film on his 19th birthday.

Arbitration: What Is It and Who Wants It?

A brave soul indicates that he may write a book about local labor conditions. If he does perhaps he will let me pick a title. I suggest "Arbitration: What Is It and Who Wants It?" or if he wants a more catchy title he could use "The Absent Teacher and The Vacant Graveyard." Then again maybe he should use "Confusion" and let it go at that.

For reasons that are apparent to many observers, the brave author's first chapter should include a list of terms that are misused and misunderstood by many people who are getting into the local fights. Yet, such terms are so powerful they can send normal people up the wall.

Abritration and binding arbitration are such terms. Arbitration — standing by itself with no adjectives — is defined in "Robert's Dictionary of Industrial Relation" as a procedure whereby parties unable to agree on a solution to a problem indicate their willingness to be bound by the decisions of a third party."

SAMUEL CHANDLER

This definition agrees with all others that I have seen.

THE ENCYCLOPEDIA Brittanica defines arbitration as "The process by which a labor dispute is submitted to an impartial person or a board of three or more persons for final or binding decision."

There are at least three kinds of arbitration: voluntary, compulsory, and binding. Voluntary is defined by Mr. Roberts as "a third party settlement where labor and management mutually request that an issue be submitted to arbitration."

Compulsory arbitration is defined as a "third party dispute settlement required by law."

Binding arbitration is, apparently, a new term and the best definition I can find is "an agreement between management and labor that makes it obligatory to place in arbitration those controversies which threaten to shut down services."

WITH THESE DEFINITIONS in mind, it is easy to see that the granting or not granting of contracts that include binding arbitration clauses should not be influenced by the emotions of the general public or, indeed, the emotions of the people who are more-or-less involved — such as groups of parents and other kinds of citizens' groups.

If binding arbitration becomes a practice it may mean that many disputes now settled by collective bargaining will be decided by third parties who, in the case of public employees are not chosen through the elective process to represent the public.

On the other hand binding arbitration may mean greater efficiency and less loss of time through strikes and walk-outs.

Collective bargaining is defined in "Roberts Dictionary of Industrial Relations" as "the process of negotiating the terms and conditions of employment. It is used almost synonymously with the term negotiation."

Negotiation, in turn, is defined as "the process whereby the representatives of employees and the employer meet for the purpose of reaching agreement on wages, hours, and conditions of employment for those of the appropriate bargaining unit."

IF THE BRAVE SOUL decides to write his book on local labor conditions or if readers want definitions that will help them understand the terms that cloak the issues, let them consult a good reference book such as "Robert's Dictionary of Industrial Relations."

WESTBOROUGH SQUARE merchants will host an admission free Oktoberfest celebration on October 2 from noon to 4 p.m. On the mall will be a thumping German band, and folk dancers. Genuine German beer and German food will be featured.

Candy Bar Sales For Band Suits

The band members of Southwood Junior High will soon start a campaign to sell 4,000 bars of "World's Finest Chocolate." The purpose of the campaign is to raise $1,000 to purchase new band uniforms. Each band member has been assigned a quota. The chocolate will be sold door to door, at shopping centers, and to business houses. The campaign will run from October 1 through 15.

The band members are determined to complete the campaign in two weeks so that they can have their new uniforms in time for the annual Christmas concert.

For the past eight years, the Southwood Band, directed by Howard Dudune, has received the highest honors awarded in Bay Area festival competition.

Rams Down Dons, 9-6

By JERRY LITTRELL

It's a good thing there weren't any Nevada odds post on Friday's Westmoor - Aragon High School football game, because it's quite possible someone might have thought the fix was in.

For three quarters it was 2-0 with Westmoor throwing a no-hitter at the Dons in a rather dull, mistake-laden affair. Error after error cost both teams scoring chances, but after a wild finish Westmoor had upped its record to 2-0 with a 9-6 victory in the paternal matchup of the Matisi family.

Young Dave Matisi gave quite an accounting of himself. The junior Don quarterback, whose father coached the Westmoor squad, threw for 160 yards in 34 attempts, despite being constantly smothered by the onrushing emotionally charged Rams. His poise under fire was the game's outstanding feature.

"The play we played tonight you'd think I had told Dave all our weaknesses," coach Pete Matisi said afterwards. "We played an awful game at times. Just awful."

True. For example — the Rams were unable to score the first three close tries as missed blocking assignments, fumbles and penalties constantly threw them backwards. Westmoor, in fact, lost all three of its fumbles while Aragon managed to drop the ball five times without losing it once.

The first tally was the season's weirdest play. Matisi dropped back in his own end zone to pass, was tackled and the ball squirted loose. It just lay there for what seemed an eternity while both sides watched it with great interest. Then Aragon's Terry Reagan picked it up as if to hand it to the official and a Westmoor player fell against his back. That was good enough for a safety.

Then, with Aragon further hampered by the loss of fullback Mark Chorpening, and Matisi having to pick himself off the turf after almost every play, Westmoor's defense got the only Ram touchdown when Tom Price picked off an aerial try on the 23 and ran in for a 9-0 lead.

It wasn't until there were just 37 seconds left that Aragon could score. Starting from his own 27, Matisi got five completions in nine tries with the final six-yarder going clear across field to sophomore Rudy Eichenbaum.

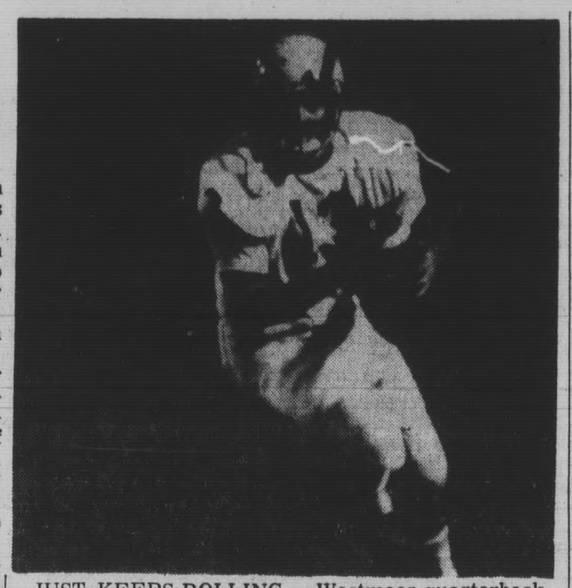
HILLSDALE 22, TERRA NOVA 14

It has been three years since Ron Doss has played quarterback but it's a certainty it won't be that long until he does again. The senior converted halfback made things happen — for both sides — in sparking the Knights to win over the TN Tigers.

The Hillsdale offense had been staggering and only a two-yard run by Chuck Lucas, after a recovered fumble, gave them an 8-0 halftime lead. Doss took over the reins, guided the Knights to two quick touchdowns and then generously aided the Tiger offense by allowing them two scoring opportunities.

Lucas, bouncing off tackles all day, scored the second TD on an eight-yard scamper in the third period before Doss himself intercepted a pass and ran 70 yards for the final Knight tally. But on the next series one of his aerials was intercepted setting up Steve Garrison's 17-yard touchdown run before a fourth period fumble set up John Racanelli's eight-yard toss to John Riewerts.

"We were pleased and worried at the same time," said Knight coach Ron Anderson. "It's still in the experimental stage so we won't know who will start the next game (Doss or Rory McArthur) until after the films."



JUST KEEPS ROLLING — Westmoor quarterback Brad Kearns roils out, looking for a pass receiver against Aragon. Too often no one was there; Westmoor's only touchdown came as the result of an interception.

Hungry Colt Line Stops 'Tangs Cold

El Camino High School's heralded defense came through for the second week in a row as the Colts scored a 26-8 win over the Capuchino Mustangs at Clifford Field Friday night.

The Colt defense allowed its second TD of over 80 yards, but was stingy the rest of the way as they held Capuchino to only 11 plays from scrimmage in the second half, good for no first downs, five yards passing and a minus nine on the ground.

The only Mustang score came as a shock in the second period when John Bomba shot out of the backfield to snare a Ken Swan pass and race for the 98-yard TD. Buy Hanacek's run for the two-point conversion gave Capuchino a momentary lead of 8-7 over the Colts.

El Camino opened the scoring in the first quarter when Dave Alvarez scooted three yards and Frank Morrison added the PAT for a 7-0 lead.

After a two-point conversion run put Capuchino in the lead, El Camino took the ensuing kickoff and marched 60 yards in nine plays to take charge for good. Rudy Castellanos passed four yards to Mark Spivey with 37 seconds left in the half; Morrison added the kick for a 14-8 halftime margin.

Morrison added some insurance in the third period with a 13-yard field goal that cleared with plenty to spare, giving the Colts a 17-8 bulge.

Defenders Bob Bolds and Bob Clary teamed to add a safety, making it 19-8 early in the fourth period.

Castellanos capped a good night in the air for El Camino by tossing a nine-yard scoring pass to Aaron Nakano with two minutes left in the contest. Morrison added his third PAT to close out the scoring.

Castellano ended the night with nine for 16 in the air, totaling 117 yards and two touchdowns. Hornick stood out on defense, recovering three of the four Cap fumbles.

Regents Fall, 61-0

By CHRIS STAVE

What is Johnny Browne doing to those kids at Crestmoor?

You know Crestmoor — formerly the oldest standing joke in the Mid-Peninsula League? Forget it. The Falcons won their second in a row on Friday in San Bruno, pulverizing hapless Serramonte 61-0.

The crowd was nearly hysterical after the game. One sweet middle-aged woman with glasses couldn't stop laughing: "Remember when it was US with the goose eggs?" she giggled.

Serramonte lost two fumbles early in the first quarter and paid dearly for them as the Falcons promptly went up 14-0 on George Ama's two TDs and a George Ama to Ed Ama conversion pass.

The next three times Serramonte had the ball, the Regents failed to garner a single first down. They punted three times and the Falcons scored three times.

Paul Grossman scored from one yard out to cap a 42-yard drive, quarterback Tom Jarvis hit Bob Scholl for 15 yards and another score, then hit him again on the next series of downs for a 16-yard TD. Crestmoor had a 33-0 lead at the half, and Serramonte hadn't gotten a first down since the opening series of the game.

Crestmoor came out throwing in the third period; George Ama capped a 62-yard drive with a 34-yard halfback toss to Scholl. Serramonte ran off two plays after that before fumbling into the large arms of defensive lineman Kevin Ruane, who rumbled 13 yards for another tally.

You'd think by this time the large assemblage of Crestmoor boosters would be ready to go home; not so. After all those years of privation, the bloodlust was up. They weren't disappointed, even when the subs came in.

Reserve quarterback Dennis Lufrano did his best to keep the home front satisfied by tossing a 93-yard scoring aerial to Al Himuro and later bootlegging around right end for 34 yards and for still more counters.

The Regents finished with—six yards on the ground.

The inevitable Serramonte frustration and Crestmoor elation resulted in a free-swinginr brawl late in the fourth quarter, but that wasn't enough to dampen the Falconites' joy. Nor was the obvious fact that the slower, more inexperienced Regents were overmatched.

These points were not lost on Browne, however. "Big score or not, we have some weaknesses yet. Ama ran well, Jarvis threw well. We have a lot of potential, but we have to learn to keep our cool. We have a way to go before we're a good football team."

Athletic director Chuck Kent wore a broad grin throughout the entire proceedings. "I think people are going to start realizing that there's a new order around here now," he said. "We've got some good athletes and a lot of student body support. I think the old crying days may be gone for good."

TIMELY BLOCK — Crestmoor back George Ama (with ball) cuts behind teammate Stu Bringhurst (74), who is about to lay down the law to Serramonte's Denis Sims.

S.S.F. Blanks 'Cats

By STEVE JOHNSON

Senior fullback Tom Crumpton headed up a crushing South San Francisco ground attack with 60 yards in eight carries as the Warriors gained their second straight win of the season, an 18-0 whitewashing of St. Ignatius Friday at Kezar Satdium in San Francisco.

Crumpton was personally responsible for the Warriors' first score, chalking up 35 yards of a 47 yard drive, climaxed by his 12 yard bolt through the middle of the St. Ignatius defense.

SSF managed to score once more before the half ended, this one coming with 0:32 left in the second quarter. Warrior signal-caller Bob Bachtold, operating at the Wildcat 24, lofted one into the end zone, where an enemy defender tipped it — right into the hands of receiver Dillard Newman for the touchdown.

Hank Love iced things up for the Warriors with his three yard run to paydirt with four minutes remaining in the game, just five plays after SSF had recovered a fumble on the SI 26.

Defensively, South SanFrancisco was simply impenetrable. The Wildcats were stopped cold by the smaller but more aggressive Warriors. In fact, the closest St. Ignatius got to scoring all night was the SSF 18 yard line.

Warrior coach Ray DeJong was naturally well pleased with the victory. "Our kids just did a great job, they have really been coming along; a steady improvement each week. Now that maybe we've got some prestige up here in the city.

The Coach Is Cautious About Team

By CHRIS STAVE

Two years ago, the windy hilltop upon which Crestmoor high school lies would have been a lousy place to watch a football game.

Two years ago other Mid-Peninsula football teams would look at the schedule and say, oh, it's just Crestmoor, and let up during the week's practice.

Well, football coach Johnny Browne is being cautious about his big, senior-laden team, but after the Falcons' 61-0 lambasting of Serramonte last Friday, the cat's out of the bag.

Browne has some football players stashed away up there. Many of them are seniors who are just now acquiring polish to go with their potential.

One of the prime movers is quarterback Jim Jarvis, a lanky senior who will finally see the luxury of some good pass protection blocking this year. When he gets it, he should be dangerous. He has a good arm, especially in the short-to-medium yaradage range, and his receivers are used to him.

The most dangerous catcher on the squad is tall senior end Bob Scholl, who hit paydirt with TD tosses three times against Serramonte. Dan Mourgos, another senior, can also

Brown has a surplus of good backs to hit the holes the senior line is finally starting to crack in enemy defenses. The Ama brother act, George and Ed, provide speed to the outside. Ed is the only underclassman in the backfield. Fullback Paul Grossman finds the Falcons' trap to his liking — he picked up sizeable yardage with it all day against the Regents.

Both lines have talent to go with their size, and are probably the MPL's biggest. The defenders held Serramonte to minus yardage rushing.

Browne isn't worried about finding talent this year. His main concern now is to keep it functioning efficiently. "They still have some things to learn," he said after the Regents game. "Just playing well physically isn't always enough. A team has to have poise to play well overall. When you gain poise, you make fewer mistakes. At the moment, we are still making mistakes."

But so might other teams in the MPL this year — the mistake of thinking this year's Falcons are the same old punching bag.

Le Pacini

He's Gutsy and Shrewd

Say what you will about Charley Finley, and if it's been possible to say, weve said it, but he's got guts and he's shrewd, and he's built a winning ball club with money and trades made by Finely himself, who does OK in that department for a guy who doesn't know anything about baseball.

Not necessarily in order of importance, and possibly not all-inclusive, following are some of Fineley's recent purchases and trades:

He purchased Mudcat Grant from St. Louis, where he had done nothing, in 1969, sold him to the Pirates at the end of last season after he had been brilliant with the A's, and repurchased him from the Pirates, for whom he had done little this season, just in time for Grant to hang up some very important saves and post an ERA of much less than 2.00 with the A's.

Tommy Davis was purchased from Houston, for whom he had hit .241, in '69, hit .290 for half a season with the Athletics last year, and became the American League's best pinch-hitter this year, as well as a valuable fill-in, staying between the .320-.330 mark all season.

Angel Mangual, a .300 hitting platoon outfielder this year, was a .280 hitter for Columbus in the Pirate chain last year. The A's got him for some cash.

Curt Blefary, a valuable utility man and pinch hitter all year, was another cash deal.

Diego Segui, an important extra starter and mop-up relief man, was picked up from expansion Seattle, along with shortstop Ray Oyler, for pitcher George Lauzerique and infielder Ted Kubiak.

Jim Roland who filled an important spot as a left-handed reliever, was had for cash before the '69 season from Minnesota.

We've probably left a few out, but you get the idea. Many of Charley's beauties are, or were, fringe players before he got them and made them vital cogs in a winning machine.

TWO MANAGERS hardly anyone ever mentions nowadays when speaking of good managers and-or good managing jobs are Gil Hodges and Luman Harris.

Hodges might be the best baseball manager of the last half decade, because the Mets are and were, even when they won the World Championship, a club with, generally, mediocre talent spread thin.

Leave out the pitching and what have they got? A catcher. A shortstop a left fielder and a center fielder, the latter of whom is so good that he was forced into right this year by a rookie who hits .200. No bench.

But they do have those good arms on the pitching staff, you say. It is a myth, however, that a team needs nothin but pitching. How many pennants, for instance, did Cleveland win with a pitching staff of Bob Lemon, Mike Garcia, Early Wynn, Bob Feller, Art Houtteman, Hal Newhouser, Don Mossi and Ray Narleski? One. How many pennants did the Milwaukee Braves win with Warren Spahn, Lew Burdette and Bob Buhl, not to mention Don McMahon in the bullpen? Two.

And then consider that Hodges has had to put up with a sore-armed Jerry Koosman, one of his great arms, and an erratic Nolan Ryan, one of his other acknowledged great arms, and a disappointing Gary Gentry, and a flopping Jim McAndrew, and in the last analysis all he really has is Tom Seaver to start and Tug McGraw and Danny Frisella to relieve, when Frisella's funny ball is working, that is.

That the Mets are anywhere but last place is a tribute to Hodges' skill, because we can't believe that Montreal and Philadelphia could be that bad.

Luman Harris did a vastly underrated job this year. To begin with he had no pitching. None. Period. He converted a rookie outfielder (Williams) into a third baseman, and then a solid catcher, even though he hadn't caught since he was 12 years old and had to learn at virtual mid-season with a staff that throws a lot of knuckle balls.

He lost one of baseball's great sluggers (Cepeda) for more than half a season, and had to put a sore-kneed old right fielder (Aaron) on first. He went long periods without possibly the National League's premier second baseman (Millan) when he suddenly became fragile. He converted a mediocre shortstop (Jackson) into a capable center fielder. He lost a fine third baseman (Boyer) to temperament. He somehow revitalized a former American League Most Valuable Player (Versalles) after he had been rotting in the Mexican League, and made him into a capable platooning third baseman. And was completely without baseball's leading hitter of 1970, Rico Carty.

Still, Harris gave the National League West a real run for it until the Dodgers somehow scraped up two pitchers on Sunday who each had a shutout in his arm for the hot-hitting Braves. Harris could conceivably have pulled off a miracle.

WE'VE DEVELOPED a new pet peeve. We're beginning to detest sportswriters, broadcasters — we believe the thing you're supposed to call them now is media men — who throw around the accolade "Super Star" so easily.

Nowadays if a guy has a good year, he's suddenly a superstar. If he's a baseball player and he hits .300 and drives in 100 runs, or he wins 22 games, he's a super-star, overnight.

A super-star, we feel, is a man who does those things year after year and who doesn't hit just .300 year after year, but .340 and doesn't just drive in 100 runs every year, but 120, and doesn't win just 22 for a few years, but who averages maybe 25 for eight or 10 years. In other words, he lasts, and he wears well.

A super-star should be called such only if he is clearly so high above the rest of even the top players in the game that he has to be put in a category all his own.

Who are the REAL super-stars active in baseball today? We say Willie Mays, Bob Gibson, Hank Aaron, Luis Aparicio, Maury Wills, Hoyt Wilhelm, Brooks Robinson, Frank Robinson, Ernie Banks, Roberto Clemente, Juan Marichal, Carl Yastrzemski, Al Kaline, Tony Olive, Harmon Killebrew. That's it.

And to tell you the truth, we think we've been too generous. We have our doubts about Yastrzemski and Oliva. They really haven't been around long enough to qualify.

NEVER THOUGHT it could happen, but we've been sitting around feeling sorry for Richie Allen. Richie, as you know, just loves to hit the ball. He takes a walk only if you almost literally shove it down his throat. Yet this year he's probably been walked more than he ever has, because he's the only genuine long ball threat in the Dodger lineup. Figure on the bad balls he swings at just in the hope that he might accidentally hit one, and it's amazing that he hit over 20 homers this year and maintained an average close to .300. He probably didn't average more than two good swings a game.

Some of you might say, but why did a hit so well in Philadelphia, where he was also the only long ball threat in the lineup? The answer is obvious. The Phils were SO bad, so often so far behind, that opposing pitchers could usually afford to pitch to Allen. But because Dodger pitching usually keeps games close, and Allen's bat often represents the tying or winning run, he is pitched around.

So, whether he planned it that way or not, Allen really became a team player with the Dodgers this year, sacrificing personal records because of the style of his team.

EVER NOTICE that a team that comes from way behind usually ends up with fewer hits than the team that enjoyed the early fat lead?

That's because the team with the big early lead was under little pressure, and was therefore swinging freely. The hits came relatively easy.

But the team that gets behind must play for the breaks, the walks, take pitches to try to wear out the starter, go for singles instead of homers in the hopes of starting something, etc.

There is something to say for both philosophies, because both often win. Except why aren't they used all the time by teams —one philosophy or the other— instead of just when it's early in the game, or when a team is way behind? Why not be loosey-nine innings or cagey for the whole game?

"B" LEAGUE SOUTH DIVISION — COUNTRY CLUBBERS CONTINUE TO SWING!

Bob Nolan pitched for the Country Clubbers as they remained undefeated in the league play. Mike Ciardella continued his hot hitting streak for the Clubbers.

In other games, Molloy's Springs bounced on the PG&E team, 35-7. The Molloy's team was treated to excellent hitting in this contest by Bob Predovich, Don Kelly, Jim Laurio and Mike Chelone. Sam's Odd Lots defeated Hector Gonzales' PG&E team, 11-3. They are improving with each game. Sam's Odd Lots again received hitting help from Jim Lustenberger, Ed Perry, Al Griffin and Joe Giacomini.

The J & J Plumbing team suffered its third close defeat of the season as it dropped another heartbreaker to the Round Table Knights by a score of 8-7.

SSF and DC Puna, Pass, Kick Events

Eighteen trophies will be awarded October 2 to the first three winners in six age groups in the 1971 Punt, Pass and Kick Contest at Orange Memorial Park.

The free contest, for boys aged 8 through 13, is co-sponsored each year by Lautze Ford and the South San Francisco Park and Recreation Department.

For Daly City youth, the event will be sponsored by Serramonte Ford at Westlake Park, at 10 a.m., October 2.

Boys are encouraged to register, on forms requiring parents' signatures, before October 1. No special purpose footgear such as football shoes may be worn, but sneakers are recommended.

Local winners will go to Zone, District, Area, Division competition and then on to the National Finals at the Super Bowl in New Orleans if they continue to win.

Ross Pitches SB No-Hitter

Capuchino High School pitcher Jim Ross led the San Bruno entry in the San Francisco Winter League off to a fast start Sunday, hurling a no-hitter as San Bruno swept a doubleheader from Lincoln High.

Ross won, 4-0, and Jim Raymond of Crestmoor won the second, 6-1, behind the hitting of Steve Ballas.

Flag Football Teams Forming

Flag football teams began forming last week on Daly City's playgrounds as part of the Recreation Division's Fall Program.

Boys interested in flag football should contact the recreation leader on duty at the playground nearest to their home.

BRIGHT LIGHTS BY LLOYD JOHNSON

Scotty Campbell's From Prime Rib To Scampi

The entrees at Scotty Campbell's in Redwood City range from Prime Rib to the Gourmet Platter for Two, a special combination of barbecued ribs, chicken, sliced sirloin and scampi, served Lazy Susan-style. Another favorite at this award-winning restaurant is the Broiled Mahi Mahi, covered with almonds. Friendliness and hospitality are other ingredients that have made dining at Scotty Campbell's a special place to take family and friends, and both are amply generated by Mary Lou Francis, the sparkling hostess-co-owner . . . The interior of Vince's Italian and Seafood restaurant is charmingly unassuming, but the crowds of customers who flock here for lunch and dinner love its air of bonhomie and quality of the Italian dishes and seafoods. Vince Licata and his son, Tony, have a warm greeting for everyone who enters the door . . . Ted Downes, energetic general manager of the Rodeway Inn, South San Francisco, has announced another personnel appointment at the luxurious skyrise hotel. The position is Bell Captain, and it now belongs to Clent Williams, a many-year veteran of the hotel industry.

RICHARD BERTRAND, long-time fizzer at L'Auberge in Atherton, rates as a popular fellow who knows his way around the Scotch and gin bottles. He has the steady hand of a chemist and the soul of an artist. Whether your choice is a classic martini or an exotic after-dinner drink or cappuccino, trust in Richard. He's a sympathetic listener, too.

Putter Is Neighborhood Lounge

The Puttter in Burlingame is a friendly neighborhood lounge where most everyone is on a first-name basis. Many of the regulars work or live nearby, and drop by the club almost daily. The nightly entertainment, featuring a fine band called Tramp, attracts dancers from all around the area. The prevailing atmosphere is definitely a boy-meets-girl scene . . . The Friday and Saturday after-hour shows at The Band Stand hold many attractions. Night owls can dance to the sounds of Brotherly Love and, after working up an appetite, order food from the complete breakfast menu. Don't forget the "Free Spaghetti Feed" here every Wednesday night . . . Monday night continues to be "Family Night" at Yolanda's Terminal Cafe. Children (under 12) accompanied by their parents are invited by Manager John Hutchinson to dine absolutely free. It's not unusual to see a family of five or six dining here on Monday evenings, with Dad picking up the tab for only he and his wife . . . You'll enjoy luncheon or dinner in the fine atmosphere of Oreste's restaurant, located in the heart of San Francisco. Owner Joe Piccinini takes great pride in his extensive menu.

'Non-Stop' Margie Brandon

Flora and Andy, Clancy's congenial owners, were telling a group of tourists about their talented organist, Margie Brandon, and it began to sound like a campaign speech when they ardently boasted that "Margie is not only the best entertainer in town but she has also never missed a day of work and always starts on time." We might add that Margie never takes a break — but plays non-stop through the whole evening. She's just a lucky lass who loves her job . . . If your dining preferences include a view, the San Francisco skyline as seen from all rooms at the Costa Brava restaurant is a panoramic beauty. Located near Candlestick Park, it's a favorite spot for both fans and Giants stars. Open daily for both luncheon and dinner, and the La Mancha banquet room will seat up to 110 persons for special parties. For reservations, call Mr. Kam. Visit the relaxing cocktail lounge; ample parking space . . . Helen Forrest goes into her final week in the Garden Bar at Miyako Hotel, located in the Japanese Cultural and Trade Center. The entertainer extraordinaire, who was top female vocalist with Harry James, Benny Goodman and Artie Shaw, has set new records during her current San Francisco engagement. Three shows nightly. Opening in the Garden Bar Tuesday, October 4, is Frank Fanelli.

Finocchio's Tourist Headquarters

Tourists from all over the world continue to flock to the world-famous Finocchio's to see the revues which feature the world's outstanding female impersonators. So popular, in fact, is the Finocchio show that it is on many special tours, and Grey Line buses pull up in front of the door every night to deposit visiting passengers. More than two and one-half million persons have come to the club, via bus tours, in the past 20 years. During the recent big Wescon convention there were 15 busloads on a single night . . . Sil Oliva's Exposition Fish Grotto at Fisherman's Wharf is famed for its Sea Bass au vin Blanc (en casserole) and Fancy French Crepes, stuffed with Crab Diablo and served with rice and vegetables. Ask Augie Rosasco for other specialties of the house next time you dine at this popular fish house . . . Lew Lehr, golfing owner of Lew Lehr's Steak House, in San Francisco's Marina District, copped second place in the big Too-Ba-Jo tournament at Lake Merced. Lehr gives much of the credit for the victory to his golfing partner, Manny Luhn.

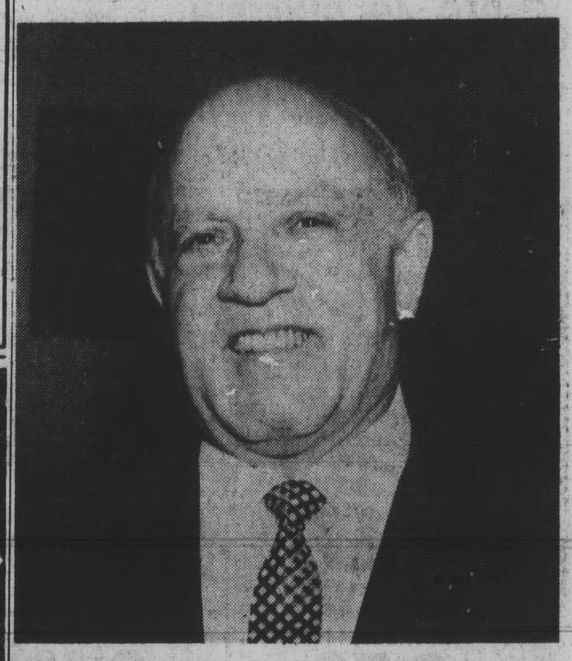
BRIGHT LIGHTS BY LLOYD JOHNSON

Barbecue Inne Also Has Outside Catering Service

With fall, football season and falling leaves now on the scene, it brings into focus that the Holiday season is just around the corner. What better way to have a party or family get-together than to plan a barbecue feast. Suggest you call Jon Coleman at the Barbecue Inne (he owns and chefs at this new San Mateo restaurant located on Forty-second Avenue) and let him tell you about his catering service. He'll furnish the food (barbecued or not) and beverages for groups of any size and in almost any area. And if you like baked beans, Jon's recipe puts him in a class all by himself. Try 'em — you'll love 'em . . . Blacky McMannus, master mixologist at Fabbro's in Redwood City, is finally showing the "pressure." The usually cool Blacky just hasn't been himself these day—the problem being his golf game. Blacky has been under pressure lining up his low-score game. So if he seems dry and laconic, forgive him — he has his mind on heavier problems . . . Dancing to the Inn Beats is a regular weekend attraction at Cardonis' Half Moon Bay Inn. Dancing from 9 p.m. on Friday and Saturday nights; the music begins at 5 p.m. on Sundays.



HOSPITABLE BRUNO FAVA, owner-chef at Bruno's in downtown San Mateo, is a culinary genius and one of the most experienced restaurateurs on the Peninsula. Throughout his lengthy career, Bruno has owned several of the outstanding dining establishments in the area. Bruno provides a wide choice of fine Italian dishes, thick, juicy steaks, and on weekends only, succulent prime ribs of beef. Being a restaurateur is a full-time job for Bruno, who arrives early in the morning to prepare the food for the crowded luncheon business, and returns in the evening to double as the host.

'Nick's Acres' For Any Occasion

Nick's, a long-established restaurant and beach hotel overlooking the Pacific Coast, is especially a popular spot on Sunday mornings (service from 10 a.m.), as diners like to awaken to the scenic splendour of the ocean view. In the evening, Nick's entertainment includes Jim Payer at the organ Wednesdays through Sundays. The Del Carlo Combo, with Mary Ann Hay on vocals, plays for dancing on Fridays and Saturdays . . . Another Nick Gust restaurant that demands your dining attention is The Moonraker, located just across the street and offering the same spectacular view of the constantly changing surf. The interior resembles various aspects of seagoing craft; the cuisine is Continental . . . Located in the lower level of the same building is the Papagayo Room, where south-of-the-border dining is served by colorfully costumed waitresses, as a strolling guitarist laments Mexican love songs. A "2 for the price of 1" coupon special is now available at this unforgettable Mexican restaurant. By clipping the coupon appearing in the ad on Bright Lights you will be entitled to a choice of a Steak Picado or Large Combination Plate — the least expensive dinner being free. Valid Sunday through Wednesday, except Holidays. October 31 is the expiration date.

Romano's Distinguished Service

Enrico Romano is proudly displaying a new plaque in his Pacifica, Rockaway Beach haven. Adorning one of the walls of Romano's Italian restaurant is a Certificate of Merit from District 513 Rotary International pointing out his "distinguished service" . . . A. Sabella's at Fisherman's Wharf, rated as one of the most famous restaurants in San Francisco, was originally founded by Antone Sabella in 1920. Not only do native San Franciscans frequent his flourishing restaurant, but Owner Lucien Sabella hosts thousands of tourists over the course of a year . . . Joan Steele, who performs with her own jazz trio nightly in the lounge at the Royal Coach Motor Hotel, San Mateo, has quite a musical background. She started singing at the age of 15, and has developed a distinct style similar to that of Julie London. Besides several years spent teaching, Joan was at one time a concert pianist . . . It was another busy week at Phil Lehr's Steakery, in downtown San Francisco. The League of California Cities convention closed Friday; the Nat'l. Assn. of College Admissions Counselors Convention opened, and the Steakery was the center of activity for both conventions.

Park Ave. Tours For Vacation

September and October are usually big convention months at Reno and Lake Tahoe. So the heads of Park Avenue Tours suggest early reservations. That is, if you are planning to stay overnight in either of these two areas. Finding overnight accommodations is almost impossible . . . "Put on a Happy Face at Stickney's." You've seen those pixie-faces with a big smile everywhere and now enterprising Adrian Stickney is having his bakers draw them, too. You can get a Happy Face on cakes, pies, and cupcakes. They make a hit at children's birthdays, anniversaries, and any happy occasion. You can get them at any of the Stickney restaurants, single or by the dozen . . . The Benjamin Franklin Hotel in downtown San Mateo has superb banquet facilities. Owner Erwin Best, who has operated the "Ben" for the last 23 years, is especially proud of the Fireside Room. It's one of the largest meeting rooms on the Peninsula, accommodating groups of up to 300 persons. . . . Dinner tip: Chicken and Dumplings in the Pot, as served at Atherton's Lord Fletcher Inn. It's a tasty dish of old-fashioned English chicken, with fluffy homemade dumplings. For dessert, try the English Rice Pudding topped with raspberries.

Roulades Accented By Sauce

Thank the French for the term, roulade, which means a slice of meat rolled around a filling and cooked. Yet thanks go to the culinary creativity of an American cook for the development of the recipe for Swiss Beef Roulades.

The carrot filled roulades bake with little attention, smothered in a tasty tomato sauce including fresh mushrooms and topped with shredded Cheddar cheese for additional flavor and appetite appeal.

Round steak is the perfect meat cut for roulades, advises Reba Staggs, home economist of the National Live Stock and Meat Board. Lean and boneless or easily boned, it assures ease in cutting into individual servings and rolling up the filling.

SWISS BEEF ROULADES

2 pounds round steak, cut ½ inch thick
3 medium-sized carrots, each cut in 6 strips
2 tablespoons flour
1¼ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
⅛ teaspoon garlic powder
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
1 small onion, chopped
½ pound fresh mushrooms, sliced
½ cup shredded Cheddar cheese
2 tablespoons chopped parsley

Cut steak into 6 serving pieces and pound to ¼ inch thickness. Place 3 carrot strips on each piece of steak. Season carrots with ¼ teaspoon salt, roll meat around carrots and fasten with wooden picks. Combine flour, 1 teaspoon salt, pepper and garlic powder. Dredge meat in seasoned flour, reserving any excess. Brown roulades in lard or drippings and place in a shallow baking dish. Combine tomato sauce, onion and any reserved seasoned flour and pour over meat. Cover tightly and bake in a slow oven (325 degrees) for 1½ hours. Add mushrooms to sauce and sprinkle cheese on top. Cover and continue baking for 20 minutes. Serve sauce over meat and garnish with chopped parsley. 6 servings.

Versatility The Word For Yams

New recipes showing off the versatility of canned yams in desserts, in entrees and as accompaniments to meat have been developed by the growers and marketers of Louisiana yams.

For instance, there's a main dinner dish combining baked chicken and yams:

Golden Chicken and Yams

1 fryer, cut up
Salt and pepper
Fine, dry bread crumbs
3 tablesp. water
1 can (1-lb.) Yams
½ cup butter or margarine, melted
1 egg

Season chicken with salt and pepper and roll in crumbs. beat egg and water together. Dip chicken in the mixture and roll again in crumbs. Arrange in shallow baking dish without crowding. Baste now with butter and several times during baking. Bake in 400 deg. oven about 1 hour. 4 servings.

For dessert, try an open pie with nut and yam filling:

Yam Pecan Pie

¼ cup soft butter
¼ cup brown sugar, packed
⅛ teaspoon salt
3 eggs
¾ cup dark corn syrup
1¼ cups Yams mashed
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1½ cups pecans
1 unbaked 9" pie shell

Cream butter and sugar. Beat in next 5 ingredients. Add 1 cup nuts and pour into shell. Sprinkle ½ cup nuts over top. Bake in moderate oven (375 deg. F.) 50 to 55 minutes. Cool.

In this skillet dish, pork chops are topped with yams, green pepper, onion and tomatoes.

Pork Chop Yam Skillet

4 pork chops
1 tablespoon fat
Salt and pepper
¼ teaspoon each thyme, marjoram
1 onion, sliced
1 16-oz. can of Yams
1 green pepper, cut in rings
1 can (19 ounces) tomatoes

Brown chops on both sides in fat in skillet. Season with salt, pepper and herbs. Top with onion, yams and pepper; add tomatoes. Cover; cook slowly 45 minutes. Serves 4.

There's even a way to substitute yams for the traditional white potato hash browns when steak is on the menu:

Guide to Efficiency In Kitchen

Saving money on food is a popular subject, but less has been done to help the homemaker use food preparation time wisely. Most homemakers have a few quick meal ideas for busy days, but not enough to provide the variety their families deserve.

Better Homes and Gardens has a new cook book to help busy homemakers provide tasty and nutritious meals in a hurry. It's called the make-ahead cook book, a collection of over 185 recipes.

As the title suggests, the book shows the homemaker how to prepare dishes during the less hectic hours of the day, then refrigerate or freeze them until shortly before serving time.

A main dish from the refrigerator or freezer, with a few simple additions, will provide a good home-cooked meal.

If the homemaker is planning to entertain, she can prepare some dishes several days in advance.

The techniques of make-ahead are especially suited to entertaining. Party menus and recipes are given for an appetizer buffet, fondue evening, dinner party, holiday dinner, outdoor barbecue, and weekend entertaining.

The 96-page Make-Ahead Cook Book features a chapter of menus and recipes for family breakfasts, lunches, and dinners. Another chapter includes a collection of make-ahead recipes for main dishes, salads, vegetables, relishes, breads, and desserts.

Special features of the book are countdowns boxes (which give a minute-by-minute plan for the homemaker to organize her time in the kitchen just before the meal is served) and make-ahead tips.

The final chapter of the book features wrapping and storing techniques for food prepared in advance. Charts tell how to prepare various foods for the refrigerator and freezer and how long to store them.

Easy to Fix Beef Bake

Lean morsels of beef stew, wine, instant onions, and mushrooms combine to make a flavorful base for a light potato topping.

The dish cooks on the range top. First brown the beef stew then simmer it in wine and seasonings. To finish it, place in an oven-to-table baking dish, top with mashed potatoes and brown in a hot oven

BEEF PIE

2 pounds lean California beef stew
Water
1 cup red dinner wine
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
2 teaspoons salt
1 cup sliced mushrooms
1 tablespoon cornstarch
Potato topping

Cut beef into 1-inch cubes, trimming off fat. Rub hot skillet with fat trimmed from beef and brown beef slowly. Add 1 cup water, wine, onion and salt. Cover and simmer 1 hour.

Add mushrooms and cook about 30 minutes until beef is tender. Stir in cornstarch blended with 2 tablespoons cold water. Cook, stirring, until mixture boils and thickens slightly. Turn into 1½-quart baking dish. Spoon Potato Topping around edge of dish. Bake in hot oven (400 deg.) 15 minutes until lightly browned. Makes 6 servings.

Potato Topping: Prepare 4 servings (2 cups) instant mashed potatoes as package directs; whip until fluffy. Stir in 1 lightly beaten egg yolk.

Brochette Combination

Combine liver and bacon en brochette style. Cut sliced liver in 1½-inch squares. On each of four 12-inch skewers, thread 6 to 8 pieces of liver, 4 mushrooms, and 2 slices of bacon, weaving bacon between liver and mushrooms.

Broil 3 to 4 inches from heat for 5 minutes, brushing occasionally with Italian dressing. Turn, broil 3 to 4 minutes longer, continuing brushing with dressing. Serve on a bed of hot fluffy rice.

Ambassador's Son Builds In San Bruno

By LIN DAY

Presiding over one of the largest apartments-commercial center developments underway in the Bay Area is a former teacher and ex-bombardier, the son of our former ambassador to Great Britain.

On the side, while he watches his Shelter Creek, San Bruno, apartments complex take form, Lewis W. Douglas, Jr., 47, is helping develop the largest apartments-offices-hotels venture on the North American continent, in Montreal.

The San Bruno development is expected to amount to $24 million in the apartments project, and another $100 million in the adjacent commercial center.

The Montreal project, in which Douglas has joined with Metropolitan Structures, Chicago, will include 15,000 apartment units.

Douglas, who is thinking of moving to San Mateo County to see his development through here, was an Air Force officer, who during World War II trained Chinese cadets.

The son of a prominent family — his father, Lewis W. Douglas was ambassador to Great Britain and a financial advisor to three U.S. presidents — Douglas was graduated from Yale University as a history major, after an education interrupted by the war, in 1948. His mother is one of New York's most distinguished social and cultural leaders.

Not sure of what to do with himself, he ran into some wildcat oil men, got interested, and went along to Midland, Texas. He had been stationed in Texas during the war.

There he worked briefly with some major oil companies, and decided to go it on his own.

He formed a partnership, at the age of 26, with two friends, and moved into a small FHA house. The new company, Christiana Oil, was founded on a $250,000 investment in 1950.

He moved the company, after building it up, to Denver, and later to Beverly Hills.

Douglas also negotiated purchase operations with the Parker Ranch in Hawaii in 1963 for a major development. These options are now held by the Signal Companies, where Douglas has an interest and serves as a consultant.

By 1965, when he resigned as president of Christiana, he had in 15 years become a major figure in his field.

Despite his active business life, his first interest was in his family, and he spent all of his free time with them.

His wife, who died three months ago after an illness, was a talented interior decorator, nationally known. Her firm, Virginia Douglas & Associates, became design consultants for the various Douglas Development projects.

The planned interiors for the Shelter Creek project, located just west of the new Serra Freeway, were set up by the late Mrs. Douglas. Their daughter, Whitney, has been working on the scene to continue the decor of the new apartments.

The Shelter Creek complex carries out a number of theories into practice and is designed to meet the new modes of living of the San Francisco-Peninsula area.

Douglas says that he feels four major factors are involved. People today are highly mobile, he finds, and like to lock their door and go to Hawaii, Las Vegas or to a variety of social or travel functions.

They are in the early 20s, a bachelor group who do not want too many ties, he says, and have no interest in the white picket fence ethic.

Finally, there is a move to a suburban situation where they can live with luxury without care. For this last, he has provided five tennis courts and two free-form swimming pools, one indoors, plus a variety of indoor special facilities.

Card Theft Brings Arrest

San Bruno police Thursday arrested a Pacifica housewife for attempting to make purchases at the Tanforan Shopping Center with a stolen credit card.

Booked was Lorriane Hipskind, 28, of 1109 Grand Teton Drive. Police said she was released on $500 bail and scheduled to appear at 2 p.m. October 4 in Northern Judicial Court.

Daly City Man Accused Of Kidnaping, Sex Acts

Terrance Jew, 27, of 48 Ocean Grove Drive, Daly City, was indicted Monday by a San Francisco Grand Jury on kidnaping and sex charges. A police officer said the charges stemmed from a year-long series of pick-ups of prostitutes.

According to Inspector Anthony Novello of the San Fracisco Police Bureau of Special Services, the suspect identified as the Daly City man would cruise the downtown San Francisco area, pick up one of the prostitutes on the street and then pull a knife.

Novello said the suspect would then tie and blindfold the girl and drive her to his home, threatening her with death if she screamed and woke his two sleeping children, aged 8 and 10, in the next room.

After various sexual activities, Novello said, the girls were each again blindfolded. They were taken back to various San Francisco locations and released — without pay.

Novello said Jew is separated from his wife and has custody of their children. He said the forays took place for at least a year, and possibly as long as three years.

One victim took down Jew's license number when she saw him driving in downtown San Francisco, several months after her experience, Novello said, and reported it to police.

Some of the prostitutes were dropped off near Lake Merced. Novello said that a prostitute was found dead on the banks of Lake Merced a few weeks ago. She had been stabbed to death.

Novello said today that no connection had been found to the Daly City arrest. Jew was indicated on five counts of kidnaping, and three counts of rape.

Novello said that Jew's parents in San Francisco took custody of his children September 8. He remains in custody under $50,000 bail, to be arraigned in Superior Court in about two weeks.

Pacifica Card Clubs Debated

The card club issue was dealt with again on Monday in Pacifica.

A story in a Pacifica weekly newspaper last week quoted City Manager Jim Swayne and Police Chief Mel Nelson as saying card clubs create corruption, crime and higher taxes.

Resident Dick Meier said he was concerned that this was the city's official position, and wanted to know what facts the city staff members based their opinions on.

Meier is spearheading a petition drive to enable the residents of Pacifica to vote on whether they want card clubs. He said he had not made a count of the names on the petitions, which must be returned by February.

There are 20 petitions being circulated, and 15 percent of the registered voters must sign them.

Meier said he is circulating the petitions because he feels the clubs will bring in extra revenues to the city, and he feels the public should have the option to make the choice of whether they want the clubs in the city.

One councilman, Nick Gust, club proponent, also appeared upset by the story. "It was not by my direction," he said. "I'm surprised this was allowed to go to the paper without the sanction of the council."

Councilmas Stan Farber, voicing the opinion of the other four council members said the article was the opinion of the city manager and the police chief. "That's it," he said.

Gust called it a biased report, that does not give the facts.

The joint statement by Swayne and Nelson came in response to a list of questions submitted to them by the paper.

It was the first time either of the two had commented on the card club proposal since the issue was raised eight months ago by Gust.

At that time a 3-2 vote ruled out the establishing of a fact-finding committee to determine the impact of poker parlors.

Bartender Sentenced

Taylor Kjosen, 34-year-old San Bruno bartender, was ordered to serve a county jail sentence Sept. 21 for vehicular manslaughter in the death of a man who was struck by the defendant's car on May 10 in San Mateo.

Kjosen was driver of a car which hit and killed pedestrian John J. Allen, 57, of San Francisco, at El Camino Real and Twenty-fifth Avenue.

Girl Dies Of Injuries In Accident

Karen Lee Peterman, 20-year-old Millbrae girl, died early Sunday at Mary's Help Hospital of injuries suffered last Wednesday in a South San Francisco traffic accident, the coroner's office reports.

Miss Peterman, 1350 Tuolume Drive, suffered a broken neck and head injuries when her car was rammed from behind by another car driven by Dr. Gregoy W. Genovese, 36, of Atherton, as she drove along Junipero Serra Freeway.

Dr. Genovesa, a dentist who practices in Daly City, still is in the hospital for treatment of injuries suffered in the mishap.

Miss Peterman, a native of San Francisco and lifelong resident of San Mateo County, was an X-ray trainee at Peninsula Hospital in Burlingame.

Survivors include her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cebert Peterman of Millbrae; two sisters, Leslie and Janice, and her grandmother, Mrs. L. C. Coats of Kansas City, Mo.

Funeral services will be at 3 p.m. Wednesday at Garden Chapel in South San Francisco. Interment will be at Skylawn Memorial Park. Contributions to the Peninsula Hospital and Medical Center Foundation Fund are preferred.

Seat Vote Challenged

Election of Councilwoman Mary Henderson of Redwood City as the alternate representative of the San Mateo County Council of Cities on the local Agency Formation Commission was challenged Friday night.

Mayor William Borba of South San Francisco made the challenge at the council's monthly meeting in Pacifica. He charged that an illegal vote was cast in the election, held at the group's August meeting, by City Mgr. James DeChaine of Belmont.

In other action Friday night, the counci rejected a proposal that the cities hire a Sacramento lobbyist.

And five cities received awards for outstanding pedestrian safety programs and records.

In the August meeting, Mrs. Henderson was elected by a vote of 9-8 to replace Councilman Patrick Ahern of South San Francisco as the LAFCO alternate. Councilman William R. Lawson of Menlo Park is the cities' regular representative. Borba asserted that state law provides thatt only mayors or their elected representatives, may vote for the LAFCO position. Belmont's vote by DeCahine, Boarba charged, invalidated the election because he is not an elected official.

Mayor Grace McCarthy of Pacifica, chairman of the mayors' council, said she would check with Dist. Atty. Keith C. Sorensen and report back at the October meeting.

Mayor Wayne A. McFadden of Foster City, chairman of the group's legislative committee, proposed that the cities look into the possibility of hiring a lobbysit. A majority of the mayors did not want to go even that far, however, preferring to stick with their own individual procedures of dealing with legislative matters.

Of the cities that voted, ten were opposed and five were in favor. In the latter group was Burlingme, Daly City, San Mateo, Foster City and Pacifica.

Robert W. Graver, assistant vice president for public services of the California State Automobile Association, presented plaques for pedestrian safety. He said that, because of pedestrian protection programs, the number of pedestrian fatalitie in the United States has been reduced 40 per cent in the past 30 years.

Atherton received a special citation for its safety activities. Daly City, Belmont, San Mateo and Hillsborough got awards for having no pedestrian fatalities in the past year. Graver called San Mateo's record "remarkable" because of its status as the county's largest city. He noted that Hillsborough has not had a pedesrian fatality for 24 years.

Save Mount Drive Backed

South San Francisco West Park Homeowners Association Chairman Don Gamma has pledged support of Mrs. Bette Higgins' "Save the Mountain" campaign.

"It is refreshing to see a civic-minded and spirited woman lead the fight for conservation of the last remaining natural area in the north Peninsula," said Gamma.

The homeowner chairman, a constant council critic, referred to the council meeting where Councilmen Patrick Ahern and Frank Bertucelli and Mayor Bill Borba spoke out against the hiring of an outside consultant to conduct a feasibility study on the potential annexation of San Bruno Mountain.

"All they (the councilmen) can see is the possibility of another 38,000 people and the commercialization by money-hungry developers.

"Ticky-tacky houses and apartments are their idea of development, rather than open park spaces," said Gamma. "This is another example of our council's selfish, power-hungry attitude toward development of open land in South San Francisco.

"They're more concerned about the possibility of Daly City grabbing the mountain than they are about saving the land for the enjoyment of all the people."

Probe Begun Of Deaths of Family of 4

A coroner's investigation began today to determine the circumstances surrounding the deaths of a Daly City family of four.

The bodies of a pretty housewife and her three young children were found dead in their 52 Canterbury Street home Wednesday.

Officer Harry Lax made the discovery after being sent to the home by the victim's estranged husband.

The husband, Julius Koefoed, a South San Francisco policeman, asked Daly City police to check out the home after he was unable to contact his former wife for almost a week.

Police forced their way into the home after a large collection of newspapers were found on the front porch and no one answered the door.

Mrs. Koefoed was found in bed dressed in nightclothes.

In a nearby hallway the body of 12-year-old Chris Gray, also in nightclothes, was found. The other two children — Robert Gray, 16, and Paula Gray, 14 — were discovered in their respective beds.

The The San Mateo County Coroner's Office said the case is still under investigation. There were no notes and the cause of death has not been determined.

However, parked inside a lower level garage was the family car, ignition on and fuel tank empty, police said.

Towels had been used to stuff closed air vents inside the garage and a tire was propped against an upstairs door to hold it open.

The Koefoed's had been married for four years and had separated last February, it was learned.

Sergeant Koefoed had last seen his wife on September 7 when he dined with the family in Daly City. At that time she had not mentioned suicide, according to police reports.

Last Thursday the sergeant spoke with his estranged wife on the phone and "she appeared in good spirits," police quote Koefoed as saying.

But the victim had threatened suicide on previous occasions, police said.

The last time any family member was seen alive was last Friday night when Chris attended a Mexican Independence Day celebration in South San Fran-
